Bennett Plans Equal Pay For Women

Throne Speech Indicates Act To Boost Pay for Thousands

By GORDON FORBES

Legislation requiring British Columbia employers to provide equal pay for men and women doing equal work will be introduced at the current session of the Legislature.

This was indicated this afternoon in the Speech from the Throne read by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace as he opened the first session of the 24th Legislature.

"It is proposed to introduce certain measures to ensure fair remuneration to female employees," he told the House. The government, it is expected, will introduce a bill setting out an "Equal Pay Act" which will ensure that women get the same pay as men for comparable jobs.

Ontario and Saskatchewan are the only other Canadian provinces which give women such recognition.

The measure will mean pay increases for thousands of B.C. women.

This was the only new piece of legislation mentioned in the Throne Speech.

Many other measures, uncompleted at the spring session, are assured of completion at this session because Premier W. A. C. Bennett's administration now has a majority.

Natural Resources Levy Intimated

Other measures the lieutenant-governor said would be referred to the House included:

- A bill to provide additional revenue from the province's natural resources. This will be a 10 per cent tax on profits of logging and mining companies above $25,000.

- Amendments to the Provincial Elections Act. These are expected to be extensive and may include abolition of the alternative voting system.

- New liquor legislation. This will provide B.C. with a "drinks-by-the-glass" system.

- Ten per cent reduction in car license fees, effective next year.

- Sales tax exemption on restaurant meals increased to $1.

- Establishment of an assessment commission to equalize assessment values for school purposes throughout the province. This is part of the Rolston Formula, and probably the only part which will be implemented at this session.

- Legislation aimed at solving the Doukhobor problem. This is expected to give Doukhobors the franchise and recognize their marriage ceremony.

- Distribution of the $18,000 police reward fund, built up by the old B.C. police.

- Appointment of a legislative committee to study the possibility of a redistribution of seats in the Legislature.

- Legislation to control "ribbon development" on main highways.

- A supply bill for the remaining six months of the fiscal year ending March 31, 1954.

CCF Woman Championed Equal Pay

The government decision to enforce equal pay for women came as a surprise.

It has been sought for years by various CCF members. At the last session, Mrs. Laura Jamieson, then a CCF MLA for Vancouver Centre, introduced such a bill. But it never got anywhere because of the government's defeat.

The Saskatchewan Equal Pay Act states: "No employer shall discriminate between his male and female employees by paying a female at a rate of pay less than the rate paid to a male employee for work of comparable character done in the same establishment." Fines are provided for non-compliance.

Lieutenant-Governor Wallace, clad in state dress, arrived at the Legislative Buildings sharp at 3 for the opening. As usual the ceremony attracted a large crowd.

The Lieutenant-Governor was met by Premier Bennett at the top of the steps of the Buildings. They proceeded to the executive chamber, and Premier Bennett went into the House.

The Lieutenant-Governor came in shortly after, and in the traditional manner the provincial secretary, Wesley Black, rose and noted the need for election of a Speaker of the House.

The Lieutenant-Governor departed, and Thomas Irwin, Delta, was chosen. CCF Leader Arnold Webster seconded the appointment.

Lieutenant-Governor Wallace then returned and read the Throne Speech.

Wright Leaves City Hall, Awaits Word From Council

By AILEEN CAMPBELL

Percy Wright, Victoria MLA, left City Hall today to attend the opening session of the Legislature and apparently closed the door behind him on his job as assistant city clerk.

Both Mayor Claude Harrison and City Manager Cecil Wyatt indicated they planned no action.

"If he goes that is the end of that so far as I am concerned," said the mayor.

Mr. Wyatt said "the matter is still in Mr. Wright's lap. He said Mr. Wright was advised that he could elect to stay on the job or leave, when his request for 30 days' leave of absence was turned down.

If he walks out, presumably he has made the "election" of choice, Mr. Wyatt contended. Mr. Wright said he would attend the opening and would not return to City Hall. He said he would wait to hear from the city.

"I don't plan to take any action," he said.

Asked for his reason in leaving following refusal of his application for 30 days leave without pay, Mr. Wright said: "I have been summoned to the Legislature."

Big Three Ready for Action

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, and his two chief lieutenants of the Social Credit cabinet, Finance Minister Gunderson, left, and Attorney-General Bonner, faced the new sitting of the Legislature today with confidence. They have an assured majority of supporters by contrast with the minority which met defeat in the spring. Only one dark spot marred the session for them, Mr. Gunderson, like Education Minister Tillie Rolston, cannot sit in an official seat in the House or take part in debates. The two were defeated in the June election and have no status in the Legislature. For the opening, however, when members' seats are jammed together with those of the general public, they could sit alongside other Social Credit members. Wednesday they can only watch proceedings from public seats.

TWO WOMEN BURNED TO DEATH

Firemen, Police Probing 'Suspicious' Vancouver Fire

VANCOUVER (CP)—Investigators from the provincial fire marshal's office and city detectives today launched a probe into a west end apartment house fire Monday night that took the lives of two women.

Chief fire warden Norman Akins termed the blaze "very suspicious" and said he has called in special investigators to aid his department in the case.

It was the second fire in less than six weeks in the three-story building. Both broke out in storage lockers on the ground floor.

Victims of Monday's fire were Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Small, 59, and Mrs. Stefany Marsden, 35. They were asphyxiated as they attempted to escape through a smoke-filled hall on the second floor.

Their deaths bring to six the number of fire victims in the lower mainland during the last three days.

The two were pronounced dead on arrival at St. Paul's Hospital after preliminary inhalator treatment on the scene. Three others were injured and about 30 reached safety unhurt.

Most of those trapped made attempt to reach the stairs and were forced back. They returned to their rooms and waited by their windows for firemen to raise ladders.

Returning PWs Claim Families Not Informed

TORONTO (BUP)—Returned veterans complained today that the army failed to inform their families they were coming home from Korea.

Staff Sergeant Vernon Cole, one of five soldiers who arrived in Union Station without a single greeting, said his mother nearly fainted when he went to see her. She had no idea he was in Canada.

The men said they filled out wires to their families as soon as they landed in Vancouver from Japan, and gave them to an officer of the Strathcona Regiment who met them. He was to send them on.

RED RE-TREADS WELCOMED BACK BY NORTH KOREANS

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—Nine North Korean war prisoners who once rejected Communism and then changed their minds were returned to the Reds today amid Communist fanfare.

"You have come from hell to sunlight," one Communist officer shouted to the nine returnees. Some 30 Red observers applauded vigorously during the transfer.

The North Koreans were engulfed by the crowd of Red newsmen and observers, assembled by the Communists to capitalize on the exchange for propaganda purposes. The Allies had 10 observers.

Korea, Red China Issues Face New Session of UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia and the western powers squared off for 12 weeks of bitter fighting today, as the United Nations General Assembly gathered again to debate such issues as Korea and the seating of Red China in the world organization.

As the eighth annual session opened, western delegates were confident the 60-nation body would sidetrack the Chinese question for the remainder of this year at least.

They also believed the assembly would stand pat on its previous recommendations that the Korean peace conference be a two-sided negotiation rather than a round-table including both belligerents and neutrals.

This afternoon's meeting was scheduled to be devoted to the election of an assembly president, seven vice-presidents and seven committee chairmen, who will constitute the powerful steering committee.

DOCTOR CLAIMS HUMANS ABSORB POISONOUS DDT

NEW YORK (UP)—A New York physician subjected samples of fatty tissue taken from 25 New Yorkers who had never handled DDT, except perhaps momentarily, to chemical analysis and found DDT in 23.

This caused the physician, Dr. W. Coda Martin, to ask fellow practitioners Monday night—"What will happen to the entire population in 10 to 15 years from now?"

Addressing the New York chapter of the American Academy of Nutrition, Martin said his patients had accumulated DDT in their bodies from DDT insecticides which was on or in the food they ate.

DDT is poisonous to man as well as to insects, he said, adding that the use of DDT and its chemical relatives in agriculture now totals well over 250,000,000 pounds a year and is increasing.

EIGHT MORE DOUK HOMES PUT TO TORCH

Police Term Latest Move To Be Reprisal

GILPIN, B.C. (CP)—

Eight more Doukhobor homes were put to the torch here early today in what police termed a reprisal raid protesting mass arrests of Sons of Freedom last week.

In this communal village, near the Doukhobor centre of Grand Forks, the fires broke out simultaneously and within minutes the shack-like homes were levelled.

Forty persons were made homeless, but all escaped from the flaming houses without injury.

Since 148 Sons of Freedom were arrested at Perry Siding last Wednesday a total of 13 homes have been destroyed by night raiders in the Doukhobor communities, 250 miles east of Vancouver.

Meanwhile, at Krestova, B.C., claims of threats of revenge against former members of the radical Sons were made Monday night.

Sources who declined use of their names declared they had received messages threatening their lives if they did not fall in line with the policy of the sect, of whom 148 were arrested last Wednesday.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said in Victoria today the charge d'affaires in Uruguay has been asked to locate Stefan Sorokin spiritual leader of the Sons and determine his intentions on returning. He will also find out if there are any obstacles to prevent his return.

Mr. Bonner said the Doukhobor consultative committee suggested the approach.

The Freedomsites want Sorokin back.

"Sorokin is the only one in all Canada who can decide this question and solve this problem," the Sons said in a recent statement on their current troubles with the law.

Police Fear Mental Patient Headed for U.S. in Stolen Boat

James Carrol Hall, 30, fugitive from the Wilkinson Road mental hospital for convicted criminals, probably is armed with a high-powered rifle, police said today.

He has become a dangerous man, police reported, hunted both by Canadian and American police.

He is believed to have escaped in a stolen powerboat and to have headed for the United States coast.

Police and civilian aircraft are searching today.

American police, alerted, are operating independently.

Hall is believed to have made good his boast of last May, when he was recaptured after a brief three days of freedom, that he would escape, again and get to the United States.

These facts convince police Hall has attempted to reach the Washington coast.

During the week-end a 'hief broke into the seashore pit of Producers Sand and Gravel Company, Albert Head, stole a .300 Savage rifle and half a box of ammunition to go with it, a .22 calibre rifle and $20 in cash.

.22 Found Abandoned on Beach

Police found the .22 abandoned by a log on the beach a short distance away. Although the cabin had been ransacked, a supply of coffee and canned milk was not touched.

About a mile from the looted cabin, George Duddy, of Duke Road, reported, his 15½-foot cabin cruiser missing. The craft is powered with a four-cylinder Austin engine and is capable of 10 knots. It was moored close off the beach and its dinghy had been cut adrift.

"It smacks of Hall's work, all right," RCMP officers commented today.

Hall followed this pattern of escape last May. The convicted burglar, sentenced to 14 years for 14 burglaries, stole a power boat from Brentwood Bay on that occasion. He broke into a company store at Bamerton and stole $150 in cash, as well as food and clothing.

An RCMP officer captured him near Salt Spring Island in the stolen boat three days after he had won to brief freedom.

Sufficient Fuel for 4-Hour Run

The stolen Duddy boat had sufficient fuel on board for a four-hour run, its owner told police.

Hall has had ample time to make the American coast, they pointed out, and this, they believe, was his intention.

The gravel pit cabin was robbed some time before 8 a.m. Monday, probably Sunday night. Bert Parker, gravel pit superintendent, discovered the break-in and reported it immediately.

The boat's disappearance was not discovered until later Monday morning.

Although an RCMP aircraft searched the coastal area carefully, covered the Straits of Juan de Fuca soon after the reported break-in and boat theft, there was no sign of the cruiser.

A private pilot, Frank Copley, took Saanich police on the search. His plane had no better luck.

Vancouver Police Seize Heroin Worth $6,000

VANCOUVER (BUP)—City detectives and RCMP officers said today they had made the largest drug seizure of the year here.

One ounce of heroin, valued at approximately $6,000 on the underworld drug market, was seized by city detectives in a raid on a hotel room. Eight capsules were taken in the raid and a quantity of the powder wrapped in paper. Three women and a sailor were taken into custody pending investigation.

Meanwhile, the RCMP boarded the freighter China Mail in the harbor and seized five rubber containers from the crewmen's quarters which allegedly contained narcotics.

MacNamara Named To Mediate SIU Steamship Strike

OTTAWA (BUP)—Labor Minister Milton F. Gregg today named former deputy labor minister Arthur MacNamara as special commissioner and mediator to try to bring shipping companies and their strike-threatening employees together for fresh labor negotiations.

Gregg said he had hoped that direct negotiations between the SIU and the companies would bring about a settlement, but the SIU had notified Colonial Steamships that 500 men will strike on the company's ships at noon Monday.

Five Children Die in N.S. House Blaze

SIDNEY MINES, N.S. (CP)—Five children of a miner and his wife died early today when fire swept their home at Alder Point, six miles northwest of here.

The dead children of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Reshore are: Mary, 13; Georgette, 6; Alden, 5; Frederick, 2, and Linda, 6 months.

The mother and 12-year-old twins, Cameron and Carlotta, escaped. Mr. Reshore was at work.

Other occupants of the two-story duplex house were Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Deveaux and their children, Francis, 10, and Glen, 7, and an infant. They, too, reached safety. The house burned to the ground.

TOO MANY 'ROCKS IN CREASE'

Pete's Coach Seeks Rule Clarification

By BILL WALKER
Times Sports Editor

Bobby Thorpe, coach of the Peterborough Trailermen, said today that he will ask for Canadian Lacrosse Association officials for rule clarifications before Wednesday's second game of the Mann Cup finals.

Following the Pete's 13-12 victory over the Victoria Shamrocks in the first game here Monday night Thorpe contended that referees had ignored infractions of the crease rule.

He pointed out that in eastern Canada the officials call more crease violations than in the west and that failure to call Shamrock infractions caught the Pites by surprise.

Thorpe implied that the Irish were granted too much liberty in invading the crease away from the play. Rules call for the ball to be given the defending team for an infraction of this nature.

Thorpe does not plan to ask for a change in referees. Outside of the aforementioned points he was generally satisfied with the officiating of Bill Dickinson and Bill Wilkes of Vancouver.

Meanwhile, coach Red McMillan plans only one change in the Shamrock line-up, Jack Byford of Vancouver Pilseners will replace Bob Anderson who has been transferred from the city to a position in Prince George.

In regard to the first-period collapse of the Irish McMillan said:

"The lapses were by the team as a whole and not by individuals." That's why I'm sticking with virtually the same unit.

FRENCH CABINET PLANNING SWEEPING ECONOMIC CHANGES

PARIS (UP)—Premier Joseph Laniel's cabinet approved a series of sweeping economic and social measures today and a drastic reform program in riot-torn French Morocco.

The internal decrees were aimed at cutting government employment, eliminating governmental red tape extending back as far as Napoleon Bonaparte's time, and starting to decentralize the governmental bureaucracy.

A second cabinet meeting was called for this afternoon to take up the question of pay boosts for government employees—a measure made urgent by the paralyzing strikes last month.

SURGERY ADDS NEW ARTERY

Heart Patients Get New Hope

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK (AP)—Sick human hearts are made well and strong again by giving them an extra artery, a Canadian surgeon said today.

Men crippled by heart attack, scarcely able to work, now are back at full-time work as oil well drillers, machinists, railroad workers and physicians.

Dr. Arthur M. Vineberg of Montreal told an International College of Surgeons meeting.

The third artery brings life-saving blood to hearts starving because of blockage of one or both of the coronary arteries which normally feed the heart.

Heart attacks come because the coronary arteries harden and narrow or are blocked by clots.

The dramatic operation takes an artery running through the chest and thrusts one end into a tunnel opened inside the heart muscles. The fresh supply of blood brings a new lease on life.

Dr. Vineberg is a lecturer in surgery at McGill University medical school and is associated with three Montreal hospitals.

The third artery has been given successfully to eight out of nine men subjects in the last three years, he said.

It can be done safely for any heart victim "who can walk 100 feet or more," he added.

IN THE HOUSE

Speaker Tom Irwin is standing firm on the smouldering issue of quarters for B.C.'s four Liberal MLAs during the session.

The Liberals' collective noses are out of joint because the Speaker has crammed them into a poky, dingy room, not nearly as big as other rooms supplied for individuals such as Tom Uphill, Dr. Larry Giovando and Mrs. Lydia Arsens.

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing wasn't given a separate office as is usual with party leaders.

Mr. Irwin explained today the Liberals can make use of an adjoining committee room—when it's not being used by committees.

"That's all I can do. There isn't more space," he said.

The Liberals still consider the cramped quarters an insult.

Seventeen of the 48 legislators are sitting in the House for the first time.

Two sessions and the entertainment at Government House for MLAs is pretty costly for the lieutenant-governor whose remuneration for the post doesn't nearly cover his expenses.

But he does get his liquor at cost for all functions.

City May Assist In Seeding Park For Baseballers

Civic assistance on seeding and irrigating Jaycee Little League Park on Hillside Avenue will be recommended to council Friday by its parks committee.

The committee will recommend use of parks equipment up to the value of $200 on a rental basis and expenditure of $250 on pipes for irrigation of the park.

Junior Chamber of Commerce wrote the committee it wished to seed the park. Some members of the parks force have volunteered to work on the job with the Chamber providing the seed.

MONTREAL (BUP)—A showdown debate on retention of the CCF party as its political arm appeared certain today at the 13th general convention of the 370,000-strong Canadian Congress of Labor.

In the face of a resolution from the powerful United Auto Workers urging a non-partisan policy in elections, the CCL's political action committee asked 800 convention delegates to endorse previous congress policy and support the CCF.

Charles H. Millard, boss of the steelworkers union and a prominent Socialist, told the 60-member committee that the eventual goal of labor "must inevitably be integrated with the political action of the CCF."

Further committee study of the partisan policy was scheduled for today. A resolution emerging from the discussions was expected to be put before the convention Wednesday or Thursday.

Expected fireworks would come then.

Among 170 resolutions placed before the convention was a demand from the United Auto Workers Local 200 at Windsor, Ont., urging "non-partisan independent political action" by the congress "to unite and broaden the scope of political action of the Canadian labor movement."

A preamble to the resolution said, "Past results indicate the abject failure" of previous congress policy supporting the CCF.

The Windsor local charged that endorsement of the Socialists "negates the uniting of all sections of the labor movement in the political field."

Ball of $5,000 posted this morning in city court gained the release from jail of Jaswant Singh, young East Indian, after he had been committed for trial to a higher court on a charge of retaining stolen goods.

Victoria MLA Percy Wright's long experience with Toastmasters will hold him in good stead for one of the biggest speeches of his life Wednesday.

He will move the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, an important address which usually contains hints of government policy.

Veteran Socialist E. E. Winch, Burnaby, has been named deputy CCF leader under Leader Arnold Webster.

Arthur Turner, Vancouver East, is party whip, and Randolph Harding, Kaslo-Slocan, caucus chairman.

Bruce Brown, new Liberal MLA for Prince Rupert, emphasizes his name is not spelled with an "e".

"I haven't made my first million yet," he said. "I'll add the 'e' after that. After the second million, I'll hyphenate the name."

MONTREAL (BUP)—A showdown debate on retention of the CCF party as its political arm appeared certain today at the 13th general convention of the 370,000-strong Canadian Congress of Labor.

In the face of a resolution from the powerful United Auto Workers urging a non-partisan policy in elections, the CCL's political action committee asked 800 convention delegates to endorse previous congress policy and support the CCF.

Charles H. Millard, boss of the steelworkers union and a prominent Socialist, told the 60-member committee that the eventual goal of labor "must inevitably be integrated with the political action of the CCF."

Further committee study of the partisan policy was scheduled for today. A resolution emerging from the discussions was expected to be put before the convention Wednesday or Thursday.

Expected fireworks would come then. Among 170 resolutions placed before the convention was a demand from the United Auto Workers Local 200 at Windsor, Ont., urging "non-partisan independent political action" by the congress "to unite and broaden the scope of political action of the Canadian labor movement."

A preamble to the resolution said, "Past results indicate the abject failure of previous congress policy supporting the CCF."

The Windsor local charged that endorsement of the Socialists "negates the uniting of all sections of the labor movement in the political field."

Ball of $5,000 posted this morning in city court gained the release from jail of Jaswant Singh, young East Indian, after he had been committed for trial to a higher court on a charge of retaining stolen goods.

Veteran Socialist E. E. Winch, Burnaby, has been named deputy CCF leader under Leader Arnold Webster. Arthur Turner, Vancouver East, is party whip, and Randolph Harding, Kaslo-Slocan, caucus chairman.

Bruce Brown, new Liberal MLA for Prince Rupert, emphasizes his name is not spelled with an "e". "I haven't made my first million yet," he said. "I'll add the 'e' after that. After the second million, I'll hyphenate the name."

VICTORIAN SAFE IN QUAKE ZONE

"Still alive... house intact" read a cable received here Monday from Dr. Luena Hatcher who left this city recently to assume a government medical post at Fiji. A severe earthquake hit Fiji early Monday producing a volcano-like eruption in Suva Bay and spewing great columns of water into the air. A ten-foot tidal wave created heavy damage to the town and two persons were killed. Miss Hatcher is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hatcher, 727 Linden. Mr. Hatcher is civil defense target area director here.

Iver Burrows, 603 Trutch, reported to city police that while his car was parked on Quebec Street, near the Parliament Buildings Monday, it was scratched and the windshield wipers bent out of shape. He suspected children who play in the area.

First Prize! from Paris

"Congratulations!" said the renowned Masters of the Brewing Industry at Paris, France, where they again awarded Lucky Lager the "Star of Excellence" in international competition. "Yes!" said these great European connoisseurs of good food and drink as they caught the bouquet and scrutinized the other qualities of this finest of Canadian beers.

For many years now, more and more people here on the Pacific Coast have shown an ever-increasing preference for Lucky Lager beer. They have probably made it THEIR beer because of its dependable goodness.

These yearly awards from abroad confirm the good reasons for its popularity at home.

Lucky Lager is consistently proven the finest beer brewed in Canada.

CHURCHILL PREPARES OWN OBITUARY, SAYS COMMENTATOR

NEW YORK (UP) — British Prime Minister Winston Churchill now is personally preparing the story of his own death, according to radio commentator Henry J. Taylor. But he does not intend to resign, Taylor reported, and he is determined to see completed, before his death, a written agreement between nations that will set him down in history as a maker of peace as well as a man of war.

Taylor said the Prime Minister is supervising the preparation "on a large scale" of his own obituary.

Churchill, who is "intensely history-minded," has been "deeply affected and angered," Taylor said, by the charge of some of his opponents that he is a great war leader but not the kind of man who can make peace.

SINCE FIRST OF YEAR

N.Y. Share Values Fall $13 Billion

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UP) — New York stock market has lost $13,000,000,000 in share values since the first of the year, more than half of it since the Korean truce was signed six weeks ago.

The "bear market" selling reached new proportions Monday when stocks lost more than $1,000,000,000 and reached the lowest level since March 3, 1952. Stocks sold so fast that the tickers were a minute late in recording sales, a most unusual condition.

The total amount lost in 1953 is nearly one-fourth of the $53,000,000,000 gained during the market upswing that lasted from the beginning of 1949 to the end of 1952.

The investing public seems to be pulling in its horns in anticipation of a decline in business next year. But experts say business prospects do not warrant a market recession of this degree.

Wall Street has formally labeled the current period as a "bear market," one with a general downward trend, in contrast to a "bull market" in which prices rise. The last bear market ran from 1946 to 1949.

Head of Federal Servants Charges Wage Disparity

QUEBEC (CP) — National president A. H. Helm of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada said today the federal government has created "disturbance" in the minds of civil servants by not raising wages to the level of those paid in private industry.

Mr. Helm, a postal employee from Kitchener, Ont., said in his presidential report prepared for the organization's 14th biennial convention that the raises had been "promised."

He quoted Prime Minister St. Laurent as saying in the House of Commons May 12 that the government was considering making "readjustments as would be required to create the feeling that all were being treated with equal fairness."

He again quoted the prime minister as saying during last summer's election campaign: "The Liberal party believes that promises should be made only when they can be kept."

Then, he added: "The record of the government in its promises to civil servants on the salary-increase issues does not fit with the last statement in view of the treatment received, and has created in our minds a certain distrust toward our employer which can only be annulled if the prime minister will live up to his promise of considering making salary adjustments with a view of creating a feeling that all are being treated with equal fairness."

Mr. Helm quoted statistics of the federal department of labor showing that June 1, the average civil service wages were $53.30 a week, compared with a national average weekly wage of $57.67—a lag of $4.37.

Recluse Left $239,000 Scattered Around Home

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP) — A recluse, who lived alone for 44 years in a crumbling mansion, left an estate of more than $239,000 in cash and blue chip securities, including 60 new $1,000 bills in a ginger can.

State officials today searched for the last will left by Mrs. Theresa Stoddy Porter, about 80, who died Saturday.

A 24-hour police guard was posted around the decaying house where she had kept at least $239,000 in securities piled in tomato baskets, hat boxes and scattered over the floor.

AGRICULTURE FAILING?

Capitalistic Incentives For Russian Farmers

MOSCOW (BUP) — Russia has decreed sweeping reforms in Soviet agriculture, putting premiums on private enterprise and having the effect of inviting Russians to try to get rich.

The central committee of the Communist party ordered the reforms, aimed at carrying out Premier Georgi Malenkov's program for abundant food within two to three years.

FRANK CRITICISM

The committee issued the decree after 125 members met here and heard Nikita Khrushchev report on the shortcomings and achievements of the nation's farm policy.

Khrushchev, the party's chief agricultural adviser for many years, delivered one of the most frank and critical analyses ever made of Soviet farm production. He recommended measures for correcting deficiencies in cereal crops, flax, potatoes, vegetables and livestock.

INCENTIVES RAISED

At the meeting Khrushchev was elected first secretary of the central committee, a post previously held by Malenkov and the late Joseph Stalin.

As chairman of the presidium of the central committee, Malenkov remains the active as well as titular head of the party, which now has about 7,000,000 members.

At Khrushchev's prompting, the committee decreed measures raising the incentives of farmers and encouraging private property.

Christmas in Victoria will be as popular as winter in Florida if plans of the Tourist Chamber of Commerce materialize.

Adopted by the Monday meeting of the group was a report by C. N. Nelles which suggested it should promote three annual festivals in Victoria to attract tourists in seasons other than summer.

He suggested a Christmas season festival, a springtime flower festival and a native B.C. Indian festival.

The Christmas event should contain a tableau of the Nativity to be held daily in Beacon Hill Park for two weeks, he said. It would feature use of real sheep and cows.

He also suggested greater publicity for the annual Junior Chamber of Commerce Home Lighting contest, as well as pantomimes by local stage groups.

Mr. Nelles further wants to see a Christmas skating carnival and a revival of open-air choir singing and an "Entertain a Visitor" campaign launched.

"No visitor should be lonely at Christmas," he maintained.

Bell ringing should be developed and amplified in city streets, and local holly growers would like to see a drive for "holly in every buttonhole," he added.

Lack of immediate funds to start a promotion bogged down planning and it was suggested that the matter should be tabled until a larger meeting was arranged and that it should be dealt with by the members as a whole rather than by committee.

Canada Favors Madame Pandit For UN Post

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Lester B. Pearson, whose term as president of the United Nations General Assembly ends today, has indicated that Canada will support Madame Pandit of India as his successor.

Mr. Pearson answered questions on the selection of his successor at a press conference here before he left for New York.

There are two main candidates in the running. One is Madame Pandit of India and the second available nominee is Prince Wan of Thailand. While not definitely committing the Canadian delegation to the support of either of the candidates, Mr. Pearson indicated that Canada would likely support Madame Pandit. He pointed out that the Canadian delegation always endeavored to support a good candidate and if the nominee was a representative from the British Commonwealth that was all to the good.

The air force said the wreckage was found 25 miles north-east of Vancouver, near a small lake. It was presumed the five men aboard the plane, which was on a flight from Saskatoon, Sask., to Vancouver when it disappeared Jan. 29, were killed in the crash.

Canadian Chamber Parley Attracts 500 Delegates

EDMONTON, Alta. (BUP) — About 500 delegates representing 1,000,000 businessmen, accelerated the bustle of the nation's boom town today as the Canadian Chamber of Commerce opened its 24th general convention on an optimistic note.

"Canada is the hope of the world and we hope to keep it that way," chamber president Lewis W. Simms of Saint John, N.B., told reporters.

Top-light chamber executives and the nation's leading industrialists said the four-day convention should be "a fruitful one" because of the unbounded optimism most businessmen hold for Canada's continued economic growth.

A. C. Ashworth, vice-president and general manager of the Dominion Bank, Toronto, said he saw no let-up in Canada's prosperity, and added, "the last two years have been the best in the whole economy of Canada."

He added a note of caution in warning businessmen to expect slightly lower prices because the country is heading into a market where keen competition will lead consumers to buy with greater discretion.

A Lot of Growing Up

SAYS THE BUFFALO EVENING NEWS: "In the wake of the Korean truce—in the face of the Russian H-bomb—the thing America needs to do most is to grow up. We, the American people, had a lot of that kind of growing up to do in a hurry. We have come far, but we have many lessons yet to learn."

Therein lies perhaps the most important question of our times—will the United States grow up fast enough?

Many foreigners and some Americans are altogether too impatient and skeptical on that score. They have expected miracles from the United States and, though they have witnessed miracles, they are not satisfied.

They forget that the United States is faced, literally, with a task unique in human history. It is required, almost overnight, to reverse the policy and, more important, the attitude of two centuries, to lead the free world from which it has always tried to isolate itself, to maintain huge military forces against all its instincts and traditions and to confront the most dangerous conqueror ever known.

As the Buffalo paper says, it has a lot of growing up to do. It has to telescope into a few years the normal growth of at least a century.

If at times American policies and especially American speeches are terrifying to foreigners, the record of the Second World War and the whole postwar period is one of astounding and almost unbelievable growth.

The Truman Doctrine, which saved Greece and the Mediterranean from spreading Russian power; the Marshall Plan which saved western Europe from economic and political chaos; the North Atlantic Treaty which is the primary defence of the free world; and finally the defence of South Korea from Communist aggression, all represent a change in the United States which no one could have foreseen before the morning of Pearl Harbor.

No great power of the past has so quickly changed its basic policies and its whole thinking. No power with peaceful intent and without ambitions for foreign territory has ever assumed larger responsibilities at greater cost.

Against that, however, as The Buffalo News evidently realizes, the shortcomings of American policy must be recognized, and already are well recognized among many Americans.

The outstanding failure of American statesmanship in the last few years has been the failure to make friends for the United States among foreign peoples in Europe, including Britain, in Asia and elsewhere. It is hardly too much to say that anti-American feeling in many parts of the free world, however unfair and ungrateful it may be, is the most alarming fact of the day.

In the field of economic policy, despite its gigantic and unprecedented gifts to foreign nations, the United States has yet to adapt itself to its new position as the world's great creditor and the governing cog of the world's business machine.

But taking a longer view than is usually popular in these hectic times, remembering the changes of the last dozen years, there is good reason to believe that the United States will grow up fast enough.

With Uncertain Results

THE GOVERNMENT'S ACTION in freeing the sale of milk from controls above the producer level appears to be a course whose expediency can only be proved in practice.

There can be little argument against the desirability of permitting milk prices to fall to the lowest point feasible. Milk consumers as a rule are in a special class because of the nature of the product as an essential part of a healthful diet for young and old. On that basis it would seem that the free play of competition should react to the benefit of the consumer and the wider consumption of milk.

But other considerations enter. Control of the prices paid producers has been found advisable in order to stabilize the industry, preserve a steady supply of milk through the winter months when feeding costs are higher, and make it worth the farmer's while to stay in the industry on a permanent basis rather than take part only when conditions are most favorable.

With continuation of a fixed producers' price the possibility of disparities in the prices charged by various distributors is lessened. In large operations a fraction of a cent per bottle can spell the difference between success and failure.

Avoidance of delivery charges through a cash-and-carry trade, such as proposed by chain store systems, may well benefit consumers in a position to take advantage of it. But for those living at greater distances from the stores, or without means of transportation, or unable to leave their homes for shopping trips, the plan can be of no direct advantage. It may, indeed, impose a hardship on them by increasing the cost of delivered milk. For routes must be covered even though many customers discontinue service, and this could raise the unit costs to the remaining door-step purchasers.

Price uncertainty could also discourage small shopkeepers from continuing the sale of milk. Many of them already complain that their profit margin on a quart is not sufficient to justify their bother, yet they continue the item as a service to customers who purchase other goods as well.

For these and other considerations it will be necessary to give de-control a trial period before judging its effects. Door-step charges may be reduced through such measures as alternate day delivery, square bottles (permitting larger truck loads and easier storage), and other means, thus counteracting the inroads of cash-and-carry. Conditions have changed in many respects since full control was established. De-control, like the previous imposition of restrictions, must now prove its worth.

His Works Are Remembered

ANOTHER PAGE WAS TURNED on the story of old Victoria today as friends in all walks of life paid final tributes to E. M. "Ed" Whyte, for 70 years a citizen and for a large part of that time an active figure in many fields of community life.

Hosts of acquaintances had known the severity of the heart condition under which Mr. Whyte labored during his latest years. They understood, too, the penalty imposed upon him when he was forced to renounce his gardening and to withdraw from those many interests which had absorbed his time during a busy and effective life.

Nursing Home Votes Needed

ON THURSDAY THE PROP-erty owners of Victoria will be asked to approve a by-law authorizing the payment of certain city funds toward the cost of the Victoria Nursing Home improvement and expansion.

This is a property-owners' by-law required to overcome a technicality blocking immediate transfer of lands sales funds to that account. It may involve an amount up to $150,000, which will be matched by equal sums from the provincial and federal governments.

The combined total will furnish critically needed bed space in the nursing home and provide accommodation for patients who do not qualify for continued use of hospital beds but nevertheless require the nursing and allied attention provided by the institution.

By previous action, the city is under a moral commitment to make its one-third grant. Beyond that the property owners who alone are entitled to vote will understand the human appeal carried in the request to support the by-law. Here is an instance in which the care of the aged and ailing is the over-riding consideration.

The city, in addition to owning the property on which the existing and inadequate structure stands, has a vested interest in the new project in that 80 per cent of the beds must be reserved for city patients.

The case for passage of the by-law should need little argument. What is required, however, is a recognition on the part of property owners that they must vote on the question. If they fail to express their approval in sufficient numbers, if they neglect to go to the polling booths in the Market Building on Thursday, the by-law could be defeated. A three-fifths majority is needed to pass it.

In the interests of those sorely needing the type of care available only from a nursing home, property owners are urged to vote "yes" to a by-law which will provide Victoria with facilities for which senior governments will pay two-thirds of the costs.

LOOSE ENDS

The Game Is Finished

THE British Columbia legislature now in session is not like the legislatures we used to know thirty years ago. In one respect it is much better. In others not nearly so good. It has been improved by a world revolution, which has set it furiously to think up to the limits and sometimes beyond the limits of its capacity. But this same revolution has drained the human juices out of provincial politics, as out of so many other things in this best of all possible worlds.

LOOKING BACK—on twenty sessions across James Bay—a sentence which I always thought excessive even in my case—I can see in my old age that politics were pretty primitive in those times and have since taken on an air of wisdom and sublimity which is as inspiring as it is dull. I am all for this progress. But I am glad that my twenty-year sentence has been completed though, with no time off for good behaviour.

Today, for example, it is quite commonplace for a provincial statesman to discuss the problems of money on a level which would amaze even the late Lord Keynes, and the legislature, its education greatly improved, can see at a glance that he doesn't know what he is talking about.

IF you care to look back through the records of the thirties you will find that the legislature of those times actually passed a resolution, proposed by the late Gerry McGeer, which would have revolutionized Canadian society overnight and introduced a fascist system of economics. It was passed, unanimously, as I recall, because no one understood it, not even its sponsor.

We didn't even know what money was in those days, much less fascism, as we know, of course, today. We have come so far, indeed, that we now know, on the authority of ministers of the Crown, that money doesn't matter at all, and all you need is plenty of it to make everybody rich. Assuredly the legislature is growing up.

IT was not often in those days, however, that we rose to such heights. We were too busy with such trivialities as beer-by-the-glass in licensed premises, and the sale of the P.G.E., which was sold over and over again at every election and doubtless will be again. A man could get his teeth into a subject like the P.G.E. He could get his nose into a beer glass. All our business was within our grasp and, if unimportant, was fascinating.

As Our Readers See It

LABORER WORTHY

Your correspondents who write condemning the city manager's proposed increase in salary should take a course in economics.

I do not know Mr. Wyatt, but I do know he has saved the city many, many thousands of dollars. A man of his organizing ability is a bargain at $12,000 a year.

Big business concerns pay far larger salaries to men of no more ability, and directors of successful commercial firms don't waste money.

SUBSCRIBER.

FANTASTIC!

Supposing our government should decree that the policy and management of the Times was to be handed over to Russians, Asiatics and Africans you would seriously question the motive and perhaps the sanity of the source of such an edict, wouldn't you? Well, when a highly specialized institution like the De Courcy Intelligence Agency of London says that this is the plan to be applied to whole nations it isn't exactly funny. This is the outline.

"A summary of certain proposals for setting up a world government is taken from the official proceedings of the World Association of Parliamentarians for World Government (WAPWG). This plan was published by WAPWG together with a map. The idea is to have a world army. In this, Russians, Asians and Africans would predominate because it would be related to populations. Units of the world army would be stationed anywhere except in their own countries. Thus, there might be Russian, Asian and African forces controlling the United States, the European countries of the British Commonwealth and Western Europe. We might, in fact, be policed by Asians and Africans. Their duties, it is stated, would be to enforce the world government's law.

"The world government would, according to this plan, consist of appointed members and would reflect population strength, so that it would be dominated by Russians, Asians and Africans. The white nations would be in a permanent minority. If they objected to any resolution of this parliament the world gov-

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

In short, we lived in a crude, bawling, self-centred frontier society where an attempt to establish a cemetery near the University of British Columbia could keep the House arguing all night long, could shake the government and electrify the public; whereas today the legislature will go home to bed early after spending millions with a yawn and the public is unshakable, even by a hydrogen bomb.

POLITICS, in other words, was a game in those days and it is now a profession, the most skilled and difficult of all professions, in which a man needs a long apprenticeship. The legislature reflected the society around it when all life in these regions was still a game and everybody expected to win a glittering prize. We know better now, after long disillusionment, but we don't have so much innocent pleasure.

It is seldom, I imagine, that the modern legislature witnesses the spectacle of the Member for Alberni throwing overripe grapefruits at the treasury benches, to while away the midnight boredom. That is unfortunate, for grapefruits, with their rich vitamins, are good for the treasury benches, if accurately aimed.

IT is not usual now-a-days, I dare say, for the correspondent of a Vancouver newspaper to stand with outstretched arms in the gallery and recite a poem of his own composition impugning the sanity and honor of the premier. Nor, I believe, is it the habit of a modern Speaker to accept from the floor a motion that "we let her go the way she looks," which is a part of the official records, if anyone should care to study them.

HOW far we have come from our green and salad days when the late Sir Richard McBride and the late Joseph Martin, both claiming the leadership of the opposition, struggled like wrestlers for the vacant chair, and Mr. Martin having finally occupied it, Sir Richard nailed down his prerogative by sitting on the desk.

That was before my time, of course, but I have been told the story by eye witnesses, who also saw the whole legislature walk out on the Lieutenant Governor while he was delivering the Speech from the Throne and a newspaper referred to the Queen's representative, in a classic phrase, as "that obese and shiny monster."

YOU don't get governors of that sort now-a-days nor journalism of that sort either. I am sure it is all for the best. I am sure the present legislature knows far more than we did and almost as much, perhaps, as it should know. But all the fun has gone. The country is civilized and the great game is finished.

ERMENT military forces would have power to curb local opposition. In other words, Asian troops in the U.S. or the British Commonwealth could suppress any wishes of our citizens which were contrary to the world parliament's decisions, a parliament dominated by the same racial forces which would possess dominant military strength."

DOUKHOBORS

About two years ago I suggested through the press that, in my opinion, the only apparent solution to the vexatious Doukhobor problem was to get them away from their communal way of living. To many this would appear an undemocratic infringement upon their freedom to live as they choose, but after all the facts are considered it would appear to be the only way out of a very difficult and costly problem.

As it now is Doukhobors "demand" title to land and property without payment or even a thank you, and also without accepting our established laws and customs.

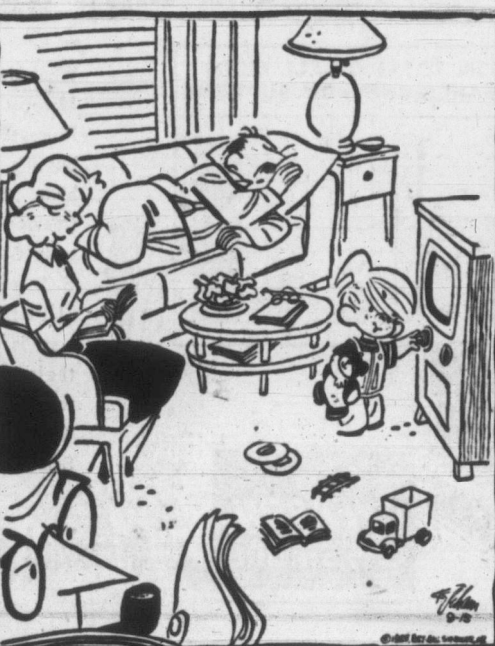

Place each Doukhobor family or individual at least 100 miles apart across Canada and the awful circumstances and results that have gone on for so long would vanish almost overnight.

If separated, each person or family would soon be on their own resources, would have to behave themselves and become assimilated as Canadians. The constant close contact with the power, dictation and influences of their leader, leaders and followers is the real source of the trouble.

If widely separated, a better watch and control over their actions could be maintained, the young and the old would eventually appreciate the advantages to be obtained in adhering to our Canadian way of life.

I know the B.C. government commission, with the president of UBC at its head, turned down this suggestion, but, as stated, I still firmly believe that an enforced stopping of communal living on those who disobey our laws is the answer. FRANK PARTRIDGE.

CRASHERS

Comox Argus

There was an estimated crowd of 6,500 (at the Comox Fall Fair) so that the gate fee of 50 cents should have been a big help in financing the heavy expenditures involved in staging the fair, but it is never as large as it should be. Why? Because so many people sneak in without paying.

There has always been an ingrained antipathy to paying to get in Lewis Park for any event, presumably because it is a public park, but fairs are generally held on public property and entry fees exacted.

It is not the 50 cents involved; that is chicken feed these days. How can anyone with any self-respect justify the physical jostling past the Air Cadets who were taking the tickets at the gates, to save a miserable four bits, and yet that is what was done again and again.

People still grumble at entertainment provided, though with little reason this year; but how can the committee do better if so many people welsh on paying?

DEASTRIC CUT

Cowichan Leader

Those who favor most strongly the Crofton-Vesuvius Bay ferry must be jubilant this week. What is happening to transportation services between the Gulf Islands and the Mainland is certain to mean considerable activity for the approved service between this part of Vancouver Island and Salt Spring Island, largest of the Gulf Islands.

The CPR is drastically cutting its service from Vancouver. The Gulf Islanders have not been slow to protest and there will be general sympathy for them in the plight. In a general reshuffle of its services to the Gulf Islands and lower V.I., the company is taking the Princess Elaine away from the Gulf Islands and placing it on the Vancouver-Victoria run.

WAY-POINT

Ladysmith Chronicle

According to tourist bureaus throughout the province there has been an increase in volume over last year of some 10 per cent.

Taking all things into consideration, this is a healthy growth and speaks well for those responsible in encouraging tourists to visit with us.

As far as Ladysmith is concerned the increase is a mere figure and will continue to be just that until such time as this city has something to offer and interest the tourist to tarry awhile in our midst.

Now the tourist makes a mad dash from Victoria to Nanaimo and only moderates his speed when going through the city.

Could not the Chamber of Commerce come up with some ideas that might tend to encourage the tourist to break his trip at Ladysmith and spend some of his money here?

CO-OPERATION

Twin Chies Times

We expect to see co-operation pay off in the deal between the company and Fish and Game Association which permits members to hunt in the Franklin River area.

Much thought must have gone into the terms of the agreement. Those in the logging industry know only too well that some people haven't the sense of responsibility and the good common sense of caution to qualify them to roam the woods.

In making the deal the company obtains the service of experienced woodsmen to patrol for fire during the hunting season. The woods are safeguarded against sneak hunters, some of whom might be careless with fire and might conceivably do willful damage to company property.

In return, members of the association will have free use of one of the finest hunting areas for week-end sport.

HUMAN NATURE

Nanaimo Free Press

It is human nature, apparently, to rely on force as the final arbiter, and perhaps force, whether expressed in terms of guns or money, has, since the beginning of recorded history, been man's instinctive reaction when he desires to settle irreconcilable points of view.

It is felt that since man has found that anarchy, or war between individuals, has been eliminated by the rule of law as administered by national states, it is logical to see in a world federation of some sort the possibility of the imposition of the rule of law on a global basis.

This, however, has its dangers. The average man knows how small is the influence he exerts in the direction of policies of his native land, whose language, customs and traditions he shares, and to which he is bound by ties both intellectual and emotional.

The Nature of the Enemy

New York Times

EVEN in the long catalogue of atrocious Communist treatment of prisoners in Korea the items concerning the extortion from our airmen of "confessions" regarding germ warfare stand out as singularly ugly. This behavior is not accidental or casual. It is carefully designed and diabolical cruelty, practiced for a specific purpose: namely, to give specious currency to a monstrous lie.

It will be recalled that the germ warfare charges were repeatedly met with the demand that they be openly and honestly investigated. This demand the Communists repeatedly ignored. They had no intention of risking the exposure of their ghastly fraud.

It would seem now, also, that they had no intention of risking the exposure of the subhuman methods by which they obtained some of their much-trumpeted "evidence."

It should also be noted that this "evidence" was designed to convince the ignorant and credulous and to alarm the fearful. Nevertheless, some persons of presumptive intelligence helped to play on that ignorance and fear by the suggestion that the charges could be taken seriously.

There is significance, also, in the fact that the Communists kept up their assault upon the prisoners right up to the end of their captivity. There was even the attempt to revise the "confessions" so as to make them less absurd.

This suggests strongly that the Communists intend to keep the charges alive, by whatever means they can, throughout the disputatious days to come. They should be met, now and again and again, with even greater vigor.

The airmen who were obliged to undergo this ordeal may fear that they may be misjudged by some of their fellow-countrymen. We hope that they can put any such idea out of their minds and have no occasion to add to any sense of chagrin or shame to what they have already suffered.

Actually, they should receive high praise for retaining enough wit to make their "confessions" so palpably ridiculous that they could be laughed out of court. These "confessions" were at no time the acts of free men.

We are gradually learning that the Communist program is designed to be more than an attack on men's bodies. It is an attack on their minds and wills and souls. The ingenuity of the tortures that have been devised goes beyond our normal imagining.

Only those who have managed somehow to survive can give us some hint of their methods and their extent. In this way those who have returned can do their country a still further service. We need to know more about our adversary if he is to be met successfully. The men who have been in his clutches can tell us more than any textbook could.

CHARM

I think it was one of Sir James Barrie's characters who summed up charm pretty well when she said it is a kind of BLOOM on a woman. If she has it, it doesn't matter what else she hasn't got. If she hasn't got it, it doesn't matter what else she has.

—Elizabeth Webb.

Queens of Another Color

QUEENS have been very much the force in the news this year. Prior place, of course, went to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth the Second, that lovely young monarch whose Coronation, in a blaze of color and a vivid procession of pomp and pageantry, focused the eyes of the world upon Britain.

Since then the press of North America has given reams of space to a succession of beauty queens and queens of this, that, and the other. This custom, incidentally, is one of the strange manifestations of this crazy age of uninhibited advertising, in which pretty girls parade their charms before the public gaze in an effort to further the cause of this, that, or the other product or undertaking, while, at the same time, enhancing their own opportunities for progress—or so they think.

But lately Victoria has been more interested—or perhaps exasperated is the word—with queens of another color. I refer to those who wear yellow jackets with black stripes and who reign over the colonies of wasps that have been conspiring to make gardening a misery.

IN YELLOW JACKETS

And when it comes to wasp visitants—well, we have had more than our share. They weren't too embarrassing with their attentions until the raspberries were about over. Then the jammy smell that fills the air about that time was evidently looked upon by them as a convention call. They came in their hundreds, taking over the whole garden as well as the raspberry patch. And it must have been a convention closed to all but the accredited delegates, for as soon as my spouse or I—or anyone else in human form—poked our noses out, they buzzed us off.

When the canes had finally given up the last of their bountiful harvest and had been cut back, we thought we were in for a more peaceful period on our own property. But by that time the plum tree was groaning with ripening fruit—and the wasps simply moved their convention over there. Plum-picking then became a furious battle between the pickers and the yellow-jackets. They buzzed and bombed and blitzed with venomous insistence—and the casualties on our side were higher than on theirs, I regret to say.

EASIER SAID

In other years when the invaders have been less numerous, we have been fortunate enough to find the nest and destroy it. But nary a sign could we find this year. Experts tell you to watch the comings and goings of the nasty critters and thus trace them to their lair. But I defy anyone to trace the homing direction of this year's hordes, especially when intoxicated with raspberry juice.

Those same experts just as glibly tell you that the surest way to prevent a return of the pests next year is to find the queens and kill them. But, I ask you, how do you find the queen of the yellow-jackets? If she'd only wear a crown or some other regalia or even appear in a bikini suit in a parade of other waspish beauties, instead of hiding her charms under a woodpile or rubbish heap, it might help.

FROM WASHINGTON

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

A New Tax for the U.S.?

THE chances are now rather better than even that all Americans will soon be paying a federal sales tax on everything they buy, except food and medical supplies. The tax may go as high as 4 or 5 per cent of the purchase price. This unpleasant prospect is a good bet for a simple reason. The treasury can get the revenue it needs in this way—and, as far as can be seen, in no other way.

The treasury experts have been making a careful study of the amount of revenue a federal sales tax will yield—a significant fact in itself, since the study would not be made if a sales tax were not being seriously considered. The experts have concluded that a retail sales tax would net about $12.5 billion for each 1 per cent of tax. A manufacturers' sales tax (applied to the whole-sale price of goods) would net $800,000,000 for each 1 per cent of tax.

Thus a 4 per cent retail sales tax would produce about $5 billion a year in revenue. A 6 per cent to 7 per cent manufacturers' tax would net about the same amount.

If the budget for the next fiscal year is to be held in anything like a balance, some such sum in new revenue is almost certainly going to have to be found. This is because the administration is as last, with agonized reluctance, facing up to the problem of defending the United States against the constantly growing Soviet air-atomic threat.

The last of a whole series of committees—this one consisting of highly conservative and economy-minded industrialists—has now reported to President Eisenhower that the United States must buy an effective air defense. This makes it unanimous. If it is not to be a sham, air defense effort will run into several billion dollars a year. Where is the money to come from?

There are several theoretical answers to this question. The treasury could, for example, simply accept a very big deficit. The treasury experts, peering into their crystal ball, have concluded that there will be an administrative deficit of $6 to $7 billion in the next fiscal year, if defense expenditures are held to their current levels without an increase.

But Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey adamantly and courageously opposes accepting another huge deficit. He argues that the United States cannot go on cheapening its currency indefinitely, unless it is to go the way of France.

Another theoretical answer is very sharply to reduce other defense expenditures. Since the peak of capital investment in equipment and weapons for the army and navy has been passed, some reductions can no doubt safely be made in these services. But unless the strategic air force is to be mortally weakened, overall defense expenditures cannot be reduced much below current levels, while a great investment in air defense is being made at the same time.

A third answer is simply to maintain current levels of taxation. The treasury stands to lose more than $8 billion in revenue from scheduled reductions in personal income, excess profits, corporation, and excise taxes.

If these taxes were maintained at present levels, the money could be found for the necessary defense effort while the budget came at least within shooting distance of a balance, but the administration is convinced that Congress will furiously reject any attempt to rescind the promised income tax reduction, which applies mostly to the lower income groups.

If the country is to remain solvent, the choice apparently lies between a bad tax and a constantly growing threat of national devastation. If this choice is clearly explained by President Eisenhower, the country seems likely to choose the lesser of two evils, and even to admire the administration's courage in taking big political risks in the interests of national security.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

VICTORIA'S SUNSHINE RECORD TO DATE, 1953—1,594.5 HOURS

SYNOPSIS—A small but active storm centered over the Queen Charlotte Islands brought rain and winds of near gale force to the north coast during the night. In other parts of the province skies have been clear with patches of early morning fog along the south coast and in some interior valleys. The disturbance will weaken rapidly but cloud will spread over the northern interior today and to the south coast tonight.

DOMINION PUBLIC WEATHER OFFICE 9 A.M. FORECASTS

Audience Rapt With Forboding In Brilliant Totem Portrayal

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

"GASLIGHT" by Patrick Hamilton
Mrs. Manningham Norma Macmillan
Mr. Manningham Sam Payne

Miss Smith Kitty Dwyer
Rough Peter Manning

When all has been said and done, there is no better test of the success of a group of players, than the degree to which they succeed in imparting an author's idea—providing the author has an idea—to an audience.

It may be said then, judging from this standard, that Totem Theatre has a success on its hands in its newest presentation, the suspense drama, "Gaslight." There were many moments on Monday night when the proverbial pin dropping would have sounded to the tense if sparse audience, like the crack of doom! And, moreover, the authentic atmosphere of menace and chill forboding, was created instantly as the curtain rose on a Victorian period setting, which, thanks to the artistry of scenic designers Charles and Francoise Stegman, looked as though it might easily be populated with ghosts.

This is the first time we have seen Sam Payne in something other than the debonaire and sophisticated light comedy role. By portraying the sinister Manningham who sets out deliberately to destroy his wife's reason, Mr. Payne, through his complete change of pace and rhythm, and assumption of an entirely different and convincing personality, showed conclusively how much more than superficial his talent is.

TOP LINE PERFORMANCES
He played brilliantly, consistently, exhibiting a fine vocal range and a strong feeling for scene climaxes. Opposite him, in the role of his pathetic and nearly deranged wife, Norma Macmillan gave her finest performance to date; sensitive and touching, at moments, vivid.

One feels, perhaps, that it might have received a fuller development but we are bound to remind ourselves that a week's preparation of such a role while at the same time playing broad comedy, makes so genuine an interpretation little short of a miracle.

Guest starring this week is Peter Manning of Vancouver. This was a well-rounded, rich, earthy characterization by one of the Pacific Coast's most skillful and experienced actors. The good-humored inspector who is the rosetta-stone of the plot, as played by Mr. Manning, is one of the reasons why you must not miss this Totem Theatre production. It is a piece of acting that haunts the imagination long after one has left the theatre.

The two supporting players did a thoroughly competent job. All details of the production as directed by Stuart Baker, were well handled, so that in spite of the fact that the cast and crew had worked, literally, all night, it was an exceedingly smooth first night, with misadventures skillfully covered up and a good and mounting pace maintained.

EFFECTIVE PROPS

A word should be said for lighting and the all-important "gas-fade" which were most effective. One thing bothered the writer, however; actors seemed continually to be getting lost behind tall and bulky lamps on the set, particularly petite Miss Macmillan. A little more care is needed to see that such well-selected and necessary props do not become a distraction to the audience.

One scene did not carry as much conviction as others, and that was a type that frequently fails. Manningham's struggle with the police and with his bonds, left one with the awkward conviction that one real effort would have set him free. But on the whole, director Baker and the actors have lost little in telling their story and implanting in their audience exactly the chills and emotions the author sent out to conjure. It is first class entertainment—don't miss it!

(A) "STALAG 17" (CAPITOL)—Paramount's screen adaptation of the play by Donald Bevan and Edmund Trzcinski about life in a German prison camp in the Second World War could have been a morbid vehicle. Instead, through the excellent direction of ace director Billy Wilder and the competence of the cast, "Stalag 17" is chock-a-block with rollicking good humor and suspense.

The main thing in a play of this type is to catch the never-say-die spirit of the captives, their grim, earthy sense of humor, often not bordering upon the macabre and fatalistic. A not unnecessary ingredient should be gentleness, which, in war, particularly, is seen at the oddest moments.

Thanks to Mr. Wilder and stars William Holden ("The Moon Is Blue"), Don Taylor, Robert Strauss, Harvey Lembeck and Peter Graves, these all-important ingredients are present. Sig Ruman does well with the buffoonish character of a German guard, as does Otto Preminger with the role of a cold-blooded camp commander.

"Stalag 17" contains all captured United States Air Force sergeants. When the play opens two of them are about to make their escape. But on the borders of the compound they are shot to death. Stalag 17 has an informer.

The dangerous question of who is the informer is what gives "Stalag 17" its full flavor of suspense. Prime suspect is Sefton (Holden), a sharptongued cynical PW who would make a deal with anyone for a cigarette. The men hold him responsible for the deaths of their comrades and suspect him of supplying other information to their Nazi captors.

Holden, however, has his own ideas and after he has been brutally beaten up by his fellow prisoners he sets out to capture the informer.

There are some uproariously funny scenes in "Stalag 17." For instance camp clowns Stosh (Strauss) and Harry (Lembeck) have a unique try of watching captured Russian girls in the bath house; the entire camp masquerades as Adolf Hitler's in retaliation to the order to read "Mein Kampf"; the way the men find means of holding dances, making their own liquor, having a Christmas party and listening to the BBC news.

In recapitulation: For those who served in war and understand this type of man "Stalag 17" is a special treat. Others also should enjoy it to the full for the acting is of a high order indeed.

It is pictures such as "Stalag 17" that make the movies the cheapest and best form of entertainment we have in the world today.

City Ratepayers' Approval Asked For $150,000 Nursing Home Vote

Confidence that Victoria ratepayers will give approval Thursday to the Victoria Nursing Home money by-law was expressed today by F. E. Winslow, chairman of the nursing home board.

At the same time, Mr. Winslow stressed the importance of the matter, and urged that Victoria property owners not be apathetic about the question. "So much sympathy has been expressed by those who realize the need for a new nursing home," Mr. Winslow said. "All we ask now is that people take the short time necessary to cast a vote."

The question before ratepayers is: do they approve the transfer of $150,000 now in the land-sale fund toward the cost of a $450,000 addition to the present home. Federal and provincial governments have each agreed to provide a like amount.

The new building which is planned would provide space for 104 beds and would include facilities for physiotherapy and occupational therapy.

The present building accommodates 41 patients, 31 of whom are bed-ridden. The average age of patients is over 80.

Since the money which the city must provide is already available, the project will not mean an increase in taxes, Mr. Winslow noted. The nursing home has had no grants from anyone since the city purchased the property in 1945, and it has paid regular taxes, he said.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

David's sling had a biting sting Monday night; but it couldn't deliver the kayo punch.

The Victoria Shamrocks fell before the punishing blows of the Goliath of eastern lacrosse world 13-12 as Peterborough cocked a leg up on the Mann Cup, hitting the victory trail on the run in search of their third successive Canadian lacrosse championship.

But except for the obvious fact that the Irish forgot their lines in the first period, first nighters got their money's worth and will be back for more.

All their label said they were and perhaps a little more in some departments, the Trailermen grabbed this one from the claws of the Shamrocks with a truly professional touch that isn't to be denied.

It was a stunned house of capacity proportions which exhaled an agonizing breath as the first quarter ended with the Petes leading 4-1. Fans openly shook their heads and lowered their eyes in disbelief.

The question was: Did Peterborough really look that good, or did the Rocks help enact a scene that for a time had horrendous possibilities?

The answer wasn't long in coming—from the Rocks.

The western champions and winners of 22 straight games at home until Monday dug deep into their fightin' hearts. And thanks to a penalty, the first of the contest, bullied the Petes into the realization that this was to be no pleasant excursion in God's country.

But still the Petes wouldn't give up a toehold on their Mann Cup pedestal. They ever remained out of reach until early in the fourth quarter when Harry Irwin lifted the lid on a deafening roar with the tying goal at 10-10.

Precise, Deliberate and Deadly

Operating on the theory that you can't score if you haven't got the ball, the Petes then measured the situation carefully and, picking their spots carefully, throttled the Rocks in their quest.

It was still as close as paint to the wall during the final tense moments with the Petes appearing to wear that polish of champions exceptionally well and looking dapper in their tailor-made garb of precision.

The Irish just couldn't muster the payoff shot, but to their credit they went down swinging to the last.

Though the Rocks outshot the easterners, it was the Petes who controlled the game with their outstanding floor play. Key to the club's success undoubtedly rested with Moon Wootton, their agile goalie. A third defenseman at times, Wootton is extremely quick for a big man and roams far and wide from his home base seldom giving marksmen a clear target.

The Petes check hard and to the limit of the rules, only curly Mason approaching what might be classed as overstepping the bounds of decency. The husky veteran clubbed Archie Browning for two telling blows while the Victoria forward lay in the crease, more or less in the fashion of:

"Okay, so you got a goal; let this be a sample of what's coming your way if you try it again."

Curly Curled Bob's Locks, Too

Bob Monaghan's face also met Mason's stick while Bob was in no position to retaliate, a penalty which Mason foolishly argued, but outside of those two instances only frowns were in evidence from an intimidation angle.

Still the Petes play it always to win, causing a press box wit to remark:

"I'll bet they have images or pictures of the Rocks in their room and spend their spare time sticking pins in them, just for relaxation."

Coach Red McMillan of the Irish had no regrets. The first period was the club's downfall in the long run.

But the spirit that rose through the gloom in the Irish hearts after that disastrous first period left the future of the series still much in doubt.

Saskatchewan Roughriders trounced Calgary Stampeders by 32 points.

In Edmonton, Indian Jack Jacobs led a drive by Winnipeg Blue Bombers right down to the final gun before Bombers lost 9-7 to coach Darrell Royal's hard-charging split-T formation.

And in Calgary, before the horrified eyes of 13,000 Stampeders fans, Saskatchewan, led by old triple-threat Glenn Dobbs, came through with a staggering 34-2 win.

The victory for the Eskimos moved them four points in front of second-place Bombers. Riders eased into a third-place tie with Calgary, both trailing Winnipeg by two points.

Jacobs pitched passes in all directions in quarterbacking a club which was always behind. He completed 22 of 37 attempts and in the dying moments passed Winnipeg from its own 33-yard line to the Edmonton 26, ounces of weight and 100 feet Dobbs, said by some to be a of line.

Heated Action in No-Man's Land

Facing a combination of bruising checking and superb goaltending by Moon Wootton, the Victoria Shamrocks had anything but a comfortable time in front of the Peterborough net Monday night as the Mann Cup lacrosse series opened. Typical of the action sees Wootton, left, coming out of his net to join a fight for the ball as Rock Jackie Northup goes high in the air with his stick. Archie Browning (5), waits near the goal and Trailermen's Curly Mason, right, moves in on the play. Peterborough won 13-12 to take a one-game lead and stop Shamrocks string of 22 victories at home.

Indians Near WIL Pennant

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Spokane's Indians, second-half winners, head into the sixth game of the playoff series with Salem Tuesday night with a chance to wrap up the Western International League championship.

The Indians, with Will Hafez booming a solo homer and a run producing triple, whipped the Senators Monday night, 3-2, to take the same 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series.

But it took a base on balls, a sacrifice and Wilbur Johnson's single in the top of the ninth to break a two-all tie and give Spokane its winning run.

Salem falled single runs in the first and second innings off Indian, starter Ralph Romero, but was shut out the rest of the way by relievers George New and Bill Franks. Joe Nicholas, Salem's 23-game winner, took the loss.

Irish Spirit Catches Eye of Petes' Coach

Victoria Shamrocks compare with Vancouver Combines of 1951.

That was the opinion expressed by the Petes' playing coach Bobby Thorpe and echoed by forward Curly Mason following Monday's first game of the Mann Cup lacrosse series at Memorial Arena.

Basing his judgment on the first-game performance of the Irish, Thorpe said he would rate them about on a par with the Combines, who that season lost to Peterborough in six games.

"Much better than the Pilseers of last year," Thorpe added when queried. "They showed us more fight than either club and are a good, hustling squad."

The quiet calm of champions pervaded the Petes' dressing room, Thorpe being satisfied with the club's performance, but satisfied only up to a point.

He explained that the game as played by the Petes was typical of the style they usually adopt. But he also expressed the view that a definite improvement should be forthcoming once the club's two replacements fit in with the Petes' pattern.

Club manager Pup Curtin probably expressed the views of many of the 3,500 fans when he commented:

"It was a good game for a series opener, but I think you'll see a definite improvement in both clubs during the remaining games."

Only complaint from the Petes was a minor one concerning the officiating. Thorpe questioned a number of crease violations by the Shamrocks which went unnoticed or undetected by the officials.

"That's one point we will have to get straight," he said. "Back east we'd be called for running through the crease. Tonight on several occasions the Shamrocks got away with it when we expected play to be called."

The Petes came through the first game unscathed, though Thorpe appeared to be favoring an injured ankle.

Today some members of the club plan to golf at Royal Colwood, while others will enjoy the sights.

All members of the team are impressed by the scenery, Roger Smith, the Petes' brilliant young forward, summing it up best when he said:

"Sure is beautiful—this is Indian country."

Esquimalt soccer club will hold workouts tonight and Thursday night at Bullen Park at 6.30. Thursday night's practice will be followed by a meeting.

NEW PLAYERS

Newcomers Stan Perkins, from Vancouver, and Frank Lohner, last season with Adanacs, are expected to land spots on the fullback line.

Dave Edgar is up from Eagles of the First Division trying for a berth on the halfback line while Gordie Hobson and popular Alan "Rookie" Wright are both returning.

Jack Levens and Ken Barnes, with the Combines of the junior circuit last season, are working out with the club and hope to earn a spot on the forward line.

Jimmy Ackinlose, John Savage and Kurt Lampert are returning while Cornel Edel, a Dutch immigrant, showed well in the game last Saturday and may make the club.

Don Wilkinson is now on holidays and hasn't stated whether he will be back with the club or not.

Available for substitution duty will be Costain, Ted Dover, Masters and Stan Cornwall, all returning players.

WORKOUTS PLANNED

The club is holding practices tonight and Thursday at Windsor Park at 6.45 and anyone wishing to turn out is invited.

"We hope to better this year," is the only comment Costain would make pertaining to his club's strength this season.

RUGBY CLUB MEETING

Crusaders first division rugby club will hold a meeting at the British Public Schools Club tonight at 7.30.

Big Night At Hand for Boxla Kids

Tonight is the biggest night of the year for members of two local minor lacrosse clubs.

Stubby's Vancouver Island pee wee titlists, and Victoria Juvenile "B" All-Stars are scheduled to vie for provincial titles at Memorial Arena, starting at 6.30.

Stubby's meet South Burnaby in a sudden death contest in the opener and All-Stars are slated to do battle with the Mainland winner, also as sudden-death game, at 8 o'clock. Oak Bay and Esquimalt will play the deciding game of the city junior championship at 9.30 o'clock.

City Lacrosse Teams to Travel

Two minor lacrosse provincial titles will go on the block in Vancouver's Kerrisdale Arena Thursday night with Victoria bantams and a juvenile A club playing mainland representatives.

Following players will represent Victoria:

Bantams—T. Varcoe, D. Platt, T. Colton, do Shover, Bob Cradell, R. Walter, J. Galbraith, D. Austin, S. Caldwell, D. Landell, R. Lush, R. Walker, R. Lush, A. Little, R. Barrieau and G. Brice.

Juvenile A—D. Hamilton, W. Gelling, M. Haves, D. Edgar, R. Lenon, R. Shivers, M. Price, W. Bradshaw, S. Foster, G. Anderson, E. Kowalski, E. Longpre, J. Dobbin and W. Harris.

Trophy to Honor Art Cornish

Local junior soccer clubs will be vying for a new knockout cup at the completion of the coming season.

The Art Cornish Memorial Trophy, donated in memory of popular Art Cornish who recently died of polio, has been put up for competition by the Victoria Combines Sports Club.

Cornish played soccer at Mount Douglas High School, moving up to Victoria College and thence to Combines of the Junior League.

Gibson Novice Bowling Champ

Colin Gibson of the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club captured the Greater Victoria lawn bowling singles novice championship on his home greens Saturday.

Bill Gibson of the Canadian Pacific club was runner-up while W. P. Munford of Victoria Lawn Bowling Club was third. Fourth place went to Freddie Jenkins Jr., of Victoria West.

BIG POISE WINS FINALE

WINNIPEG (CP)—Big Poise bounced to the front and came home two lengths ahead after leading all the way in the $2,000 Shea Memorial Handicap at Polo Park Monday, last day of the Prairie racing season.

Salmonacs Take Lead In Junior Boxla Final

MIMICO (CP)—If the first game is any indication, the Mimico final for the Canadian junior lacrosse championship is in for a long run.

Monday night in the Mimico Bowl, New Westminster Salmonacs, Western junior lacrosse champions from British Columbia, fought from behind throughout a thriller to defeat Long Branch Monarchs 16-14 in overtime. The victory, played before an estimated 800 fans, gave the Salmonacs a 1-0 jump in the best-of-five Canadian final.

It was the first time the visitors had played on a dirt floor and the New Westminster defence, in particular, had trouble settling down in the early stages of the game.

In overtime, Ken Lytle sent Long Branch into a short-lived 14-13 margin at the 1.15 mark. That was it as far as the Monarchs were concerned.

It took the Salmonacs little more than two minutes to wrap it up. Rover Jack Barclay tied it, forward Ivan Gujar won it, and centre Harry Kelleher put it on ice.

The star of the game, as far as scoring went, was Larry Ruse, Long Branch forward, who fired five goals and collected an assist.

Cliff Sepka was the top sniper for the Salmonacs, rapping in three counters and assisting on three more. Jack Barclay also shone for the West, notching three markers, followed by Barry Pfaff and Max Skinner who had two each. Noble Collins, Don Sepka, Stan Cowie, Harry Kelleher and Don Martin chalked up singles in addition to Gujar.

Norm Neave, George Kapasky and Lytle banded in a pair each in the losing cause. Jack Coleman, Glen Passmore and Paul Henderson rounded out the scoring for Long Branch.

Petes Capture Opener Of Mann Cup Title Set

(Peterborough Leads Best-of-Seven Series 1-0)

By DENNY BOYD

Famed opera singers have been known to hit ear-wrenching clinkers when their throats mysteriously contracted on opening night. Accomplished actors have fluffed their lines when they looked over the foot-lights at a large crowd.

Yes, and it even happened to Victoria Shamrocks.

The Rocks fell prey to a walling case of stage fright and the old nervous flibbety-gibbets Monday night at Memorial Arena.

The Peterborough Trailermen, to whom the Mann Cup final is an old play rewritten, took advantage of a first period case of flutters by the Rocks to hang up a close 13-12 victory and a one-game lead in the best-of-seven series for the jackpot of lacrosse, the Mann Cup.

The pressure of playing for the Dominion title against the fabled Petes hit the Rocks smack between their confidence and aplomb with the result that the Irish were a juvenile club in the first quarter and their defense remained that way throughout the game.

That first quarter, when the Rocks couldn't pick up the ball, couldn't get a draw and were missing their checks horribly, proved to be their undoing.

Peterborough, who showed a crowd of 5,500 some new kinks in the sport, rammed in four goals to a single reply from the Rocks.

Perhaps it may be different when the teams climb back on the gold trail Wednesday night. Rock coach Red McMillan, not noticeably unhappy after the game, had this to say: "Now we know what we're up against. Tonight the guys were nervous, they made some bad mistakes and gave away at least four goals. It won't happen again."

Glue Missing From Rock Defense

The Shamrock defense was poor and that is a kind word for it. With the exception of Bobby Monaghan, the Irish defenders were being outfooted because they did not stick to their checks with any tenacity.

Up front, things were a little brighter. The Rocks put 12 goals past the great Moon Wootton, something Mr. Wootton is not accustomed to. While Wootton is pure poison on shots from out in front, he can be beaten from the side, as Larry Harry Whipple scored at 11:31.

Booth proved with two goals, to give the Petes a 4-0 lead before the Rocks had even had a good shot on goal.

Archie Browning scored Victoria's first goal and his first of three, half a minute before quarter time, from close in and was slashed across the back by Curly The Rocks got no more than a chance to unlimber their vocal cords in the fourth quarter as Arnie Ferguson scored on the odd-man play with a terrific fake and Harry Irwin tied the game at 10-10 with a snap shot from well out.

The Rock defense got crossed up and let Harry Whipple score and Derry Davies backed Whipple up with another rather easy goal. Jackie Northup travelled the length of the arena for Shamrocks' 11th marker and it seemed the Irish might do it.

But O'Hearn's goal on a bounce shot iced it and the Rocks went short-handed for the last minute of the game through a slashing penalty to Tommy Druce. Norm Coates closed the scoring by batting in Monaghan's rebound 10 seconds from full time.

Booth's Quickies Made It Close

After Harry Irwin and Al Gill had come close to scoring, playing coach Bobby Thorpe upped the Petes' edge with a skip shot but Browning scored unassisted and Larry Booth took advantage of a high-sticking penalty to Nip O'Hearn to score two in a row, making it 5-4 for the visitors. A pretty short passing movement set Mason up for the last goal of the half, giving the Petes a 6-4 lead at the half.

Slater and Bob Monaghan exchanged fast goals but Petes again pulled ahead on counters by Roger Smith and Mason. The Rocks staged a strong comeback bid, Browning, Duff, McCaghey and Bill Bamford scoring in rapid order to pull within one goal, but again Peterborough refused to stop, Mason making it 10-8 five seconds from the end of the quarter.

All Serene on CLA Front

This may sound like double talk, but Canadian lacrosse officials are agreed that now, at long last, they are in complete agreement.

Meeting here during the present Mann Cup finals between Victoria Shamrocks and Peterborough Trailers, the CLA executive readily admit that all was not serene on their private front.

But now all that is changed and lacrosse and its furtherance have taken precedence over various other squabbles which marred some of the past history of this august body.

The crux of the matter is that the east and the west are now seeing eye to eye on problems which at one time used to have the two factions at dagger point.

In his annual report to the association, president J. C. McLeod of Owen Sound, Ont., pointed out this fact and praised the efforts of those responsible for closing the breach.

He paid special tribute to chairman Les Gilmore of the Inter-city Lacrosse League and Dr. F. P. Kenny of the commission and association first vice-president for their efforts in this regard and also in arranging the present Mann Cup final.

"Peace and harmony reigns," was the keynote of the report which also stressed the better relations between east and west and with press and radio.

Last year's disastrous cup finals in the east put the CLA in a financial hole and as a result it is proposed that a special committee be struck in the immediate future to help prevent any possible recurrence.

Several rule changes have been proposed, most of which are a minor nature. However, it was stressed by all executive officials that any and all proposals would be welcomed by the rules committee whose only wish is to make the game more appealing and in the best interests of the sport.

The six-man game and the four-foot goals will be adopted officially within the next few days.

Ten rule points were agreed upon between the two clubs prior to the series, but all were of a relatively minor nature as western fans understand the code. Main points were announced Monday.

Various committees were also struck by president McLeod.

FIFTH STRAIGHT PENNANT

Yanks Early Series Choice

The record-breaking New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers will meet in the World Series starting two weeks from Wednesday with the Yanks slightly favored to make it five straight two ways—five over the Dodgers in five meetings and five in a row over the National League.

Yanks Announce Series Ticket Distribution

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees announced Monday they will start taking orders Tuesday for Yankee Stadium seats for the World Series which starts Sept. 30.

Mail orders postmarked before 12:01 a.m. today will be returned.

Orders may be placed by mail only. Payments for tickets will be accepted only in the following forms: Certified cheque; bank cashier's cheque; U.S. postal money order; American Express money order.

No order should exceed two sets of boxes or two reserved seats. Tickets will be sold in sets of four, good for the first, second, sixth or seventh games. In the event either the sixth or seventh games are not played, refunds will be made according to instructions as outlined on the reverse side of tickets.

The price for tickets follows: One box seat $40 four games; one reserve seat $28 four games. Add $1 to each order to cover registry and postal charges.

Boxes and reserved seats cannot be purchased for individual games. All such orders will be automatically returned to the sender. However, general admission standing room tickets at $4 each may be purchased by mail in advance for single games.

When ordering these tickets specify the stadium game by number—1, 2 or 7. These tickets will also be sold at the stadium the day of each game.

A total of 14,000 bleacher seats at $2 each will be sold at the stadium the day each game is played.

THREAT BRINGS ACTION

Result May Be Petition For New Esquimalt Sewer

A citizen who told the Municipality of Esquimalt that he would take steps to dam a drain if it weren't diverted may have won a new sewer for his neighborhood.

Investigation of the complaint of F. L. Cameron, 306 Uganda, by Reeve A. C. Wurtele revealed a situation similar to that which created a three-year controversy in the Forshaw-Shirley area.

Mr. Cameron said that since he had made an agreement with the municipality permitting the drain, septic tank runoff had been diverted into it. The odor, he claimed, is a nuisance.

Council decided that the reeve should meet with the residents of the Uganda-McNaughton area to advise them regarding petitioning for a preliminary sewer survey.

Other council business included granting approval to an Esquimalt Community Club request to hold a tag day October 10.

A report was received from municipal engineer J. Graeme stating that curb and gutter construction has begun on Macaulay bend, prior to paving.

He also said that garbage is now being disposed with a plow and cover system on Skinner's Flats.

Referred to the town planning commission was an application for rezoning in order that a garage and service station might be constructed on Esquimalt Road between Constance and Nelson Streets.

Municipal clerk J. W. Allen told council that five lots had recently been disposed of by tax sale in Esquimalt.

One was bought by a private bidder, he added, while four others reverted to the municipality.

ALDERMEN TOLD REST BENCH AD UNDIGNIFIED

If the city is to have any benches at bus stops and various other points for the public's convenience, it should provide them free of advertising, out of public funds, city engineer Cyril Jones told a public works committee meeting Monday.

He was asked to report on costs and possible locations for benches.

Discussion arose following a request from Mastercraft Agencies of Vancouver in August for permission to place benches with advertising on them at bus stops and other points.

"What about the city advertising?" asked Ald. William Pinfold when it was proposed the city supply benches instead.

Mr. Jones opposed any advertising on grounds that the "dignity of the city should be preserved."

Two Men Questioned After Trail Break-In

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—The first attempt by safe-crackers for several years to open a safe here ended in failure.

RCMP said Monday that thieves knocked the dial off a safe in the Palm Dairies premises, but were unable to open the strongbox.

Two men picked up at Nelson Monday were returned to Trail for questioning in connection with the incident.

Hens Don't Squawk at Long Work Day, Says Poultryman

Keeping hens confined in cages under artificial lights for the production of eggs is not a cruel practice, according to S. J. Sanders, president of the Canadian Federation of Hatchery Associations.

Mr. Sanders is here to attend a four-day convention of the CFHA to open at the Empress Hotel Wednesday.

He was asked to comment on a charge made a few months ago by members of the Victoria SPCA and Saanich farmers that producing eggs under this system is a cruel practice.

The method is known as the "battery hen system." The birds are kept in small wire cages with little room to move about. They can do nothing but eat and drink, and, of course, lay eggs.

SPCA members claim the birds never get a proper rest.

The birds are kept under artificial lights anywhere between 13 to 24 hours, they claim. The artificial lighting increases egg production.

Mr. Sanders said a hen "is interested in very little other than eating and drinking."

"Battery hens are probably happier than those that run in the open," he added.

Mr. Sanders' opinion clashes with that of Mrs. James Barr of Victoria, who started a campaign against this method of egg production when she was president of the Vancouver SPCA 15 years ago.

"It is not natural for a bird to live under these conditions," she said. "No bird or animal was made to live in this manner."

"There is nothing to be gained by producing eggs this way," she added. "If the battery system was abolished it would have no ill-effects on the production of eggs. There would be no egg-shortage. Egg producers know this."

The advantages of battery hens is to be brought up by convention members from western Canada and the United States. Some members are reported not to be entirely in favor of the system.

The CFHA is holding its convention in association with the Canadian Turkey Federation. Turkey breeders from all parts of Canada will arrive here Wednesday.

Speakers will include Prof. Noel Benson, Oregon State College; S. L. Rodway, secretary-manager, Products Institute of Canada, Toronto; V. Howard Chadwick, chartered accountant; Dr. A. F. Hicks and Prof. J. Biely, both of the University of B.C.; Inspector W. J. Wakely, B.C. Department of Agriculture; Don Olson, Washington; Harry Gunter, Courtenay; and George Reid of Burquitlam.

Mass Rally Set on Amalgamation Issue

Former City Solicitor to Speak At Esquimalt Meeting Wednesday

First move in a re-born drive for amalgamation of Esquimalt with the city takes place at 8 p.m. Wednesday night with a mass rally at Esquimalt High School.

Speaking on the subject will be Forrest L. Shaw, B.C. Power Commissioner and former city solicitor who is recognized as an authority on the union issue.

The rally is sponsored by the Esquimalt Municipal Ratepayers' Association, which has not taken a stand on the matter.

Municipal councillor G. K. Sammon, who started amalgamation "talk" early in the summer, is assisting.

He said the ratepayers wish only to present the facts to the public.

"They have agreed to foot the bills for publicizing this vital matter, purely as a community service," he said.

Mr. Sammon came out strongly for amalgamation, claiming the municipality is held back by a comparatively small field from which to choose public representatives.

Police "INADEQUATE" He says amalgamation of police and fire services is his immediate aim, describing Esquimalt police as entirely "inadequate."

"These facts have to be explained to Esquimalt residents. Tomorrow night's meeting is only a start in the drive to make citizens here better acquainted with the vital issues that affect every householder," he added.

Mr. Shaw contributed a four-part analysis of the amalgamation subject in the Times in March and expressed himself as being solidly behind Mr. Sammon's drive.

Victoria's Mayor C. L. Harrison also supported the suggestion when it was aired by the Esquimalt councillor in August.

Main argument for joining of all urban areas in this district has been the need to lessen the taxpayer's load.

Mr. Shaw stressed the fact in his articles that public funds are wasted in duplication of fire and police services, in maintenance staffs, purchasing groups and four different sets of municipal by-laws.

FORREST L. SHAW "Amalgamation will take the load off the taxpayer..."

G. K. "GERRY" SAMMON "Esquimalt's police force is inadequate..."

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Have you ever been descended on by a circulation department?

I have, and I assure you, it is quite an experience. Yesterday's Between Times ventured to suggest a solution to the menace of the yellow jackets who have been biting all and sundry during the summer months. The suggestion was that each subscriber to the Times roll up his paper (after reading it of course) and swat a wasp.

With each subscriber killing a wasp a day, I figured 1,040,000 wasps would be removed from this vale of tears annually.

At which point the circulation department descended, waving copies of the Audit Bureau of Circulation reports and threatening to bean me with a slide rule.

They quickly convinced me I had made a slight error, of 5,200,000.

The correct figure is 6,240,000.

Golly, that's a lot of newspapers. Also, a lot of wasps.

With somewhat the same attitude as the bronco buster who climbs right back on a horse that's thrown him, so he won't lose his nerve, I will again tackle a few figures today.

These are supplied by the B.C. Electric's worthy publication, the Buzzer, so I know they must be right.

The Buzzer explains one of the difficulties of maintaining a bus service in Victoria is the lack of concentration of population.

In Toronto and Montreal, the Buzzer says, there are 18,000 to 22,000 people per square mile, which means pay loads for the buses.

But in Victoria, there are only about 4,000 per square mile.

The Buzzer, understandably, views this situation with some regret, and I can sympathize with its viewpoint. But I can't share its sorrow.

Even 4,000 people per square mile is too many people. The reason I make this statement is that concentration of population has led to the decline and fall of one of the greatest sources of juvenile recreation, to wit, the vacant lot.

Constituents with long memories will recall the wonderful vacant lots of their childhood, where Indians lurked behind every sapling, and wild animals prowled the tangled trails between the waving ferns.

No supervised playground, no school yard, no swing or sandbox, can ever replace the vacant lot.

Vacant lots used to keep youngsters off the streets and out of mischief.

It is one of the tragedies of progress that no far-sighted town planning commission made provision to retain vacant lots, in goodly numbers—at least one to every square block.

There would be less juvenile delinquency if there were more vacant lots.

I hope that, in the cities of the future now being planned, the city fathers have the good sense to retain a supply of vacant lots.

New Official Guides Liquor Licensing

E. W. C. Sharpe of Vancouver, secretary-solicitor to the Stevens Liquor Enquiry Commission, has been appointed director of licensing for the Liquor Control Board, Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced today.

He succeeds Jack Haywood of Victoria who resigned earlier in the year.

Mr. Sharpe's job will be mostly concerned with licensing under the new liquor act to be introduced at the session of the Legislature starting today.

His specific task will be designated under the act.

Mr. Sharpe is already at work with the LCB.

He will work under Col. Donald McGugan, chairman.

Mr. Sharpe is a two-war veteran with extensive legal experience. Mr. Bonner said his experience serving with the Stevens Commission places him in a good position to be effective in his new role.

The attorney-general indicated there will be strict enforcement of the new liquor laws, which also will come partly under Mr. Sharpe's jurisdiction.

"I'll have more to say about that later," he said.

Driver, 81, Remanded In Manslaughter Case

Decision on Committal Rests On Evidence, Says Magistrate

Arthur Terry, 81, charged with manslaughter in connection with the June 8 traffic death of Peter Nicolson, 2006 Chambers Street, was remanded to Wednesday by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today.

Following testimony at a preliminary hearing, the magistrate said he would hear arguments as to whether there is evidence to warrant committal.

The fatal accident occurred at the corner of Cook and Burdett Streets at 11:30 a.m., when the elderly defendant, of 530 Dallas Road, who was driving his car, collided with a bicycle ridden by Mr. Nicolson.

At a coroner's inquest June 11, Mr. Terry was absolved of all blame.

Dr. E. L. McNiven testified that he had attended the man at the accident scene. He found symptoms of extensive skull fracture and a manner of breathing that often accompanies impending death, he said.

Nicolson died approximately 10 hours later at the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

OFFICER TESTIFIES

Constable James Smith said he found the injured man lying on the roadway with the fingers of one hand entangled in the spokes of his bicycle. There were marks on the right front fender of the defendant's car, two dents on the right of the hood, a damaged windshield, and red paint on the front bumper.

"Mr. Terry said he had not seen the bicycle until the collision," Accused gave no reason for not seeing the cyclist, Const. Smith said.

Under cross-examination by Ian Horne, counsel for Mr. Terry, Const. Smith said paint on the bumper could have come from the bicycle. There were no signs that the accused had been drinking, he said, and no skid marks on the pavement.

DRIVING SLOWLY

Const. Norman Galbraith, who also attended said the accused told him he had turned from Cook to Burdett at a speed of from 10 to 15 miles per hour, and was doing about 10 miles per hour at the moment of impact.

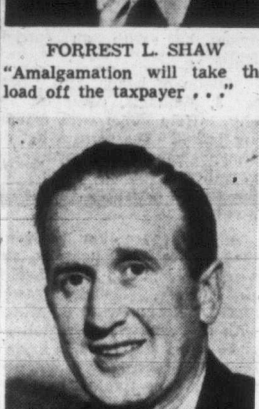

"I drove the car back to the police station and it seemed in good mechanical condition," he said.

Douglas W. Rose, young power mower operator for the city, said the first he knew of the accident was when he heard the collision.

"I never saw the bike moving, but its front wheel was pointing south," he said. "After the impact he (Nicolson) went up in the air and fell to the ground."

He could not estimate the car's speed, he said.

Alan Bigelow, city prosecutor, appeared for the crown.

Two Survivors of Accident Reported in Fair Condition

An inquest in the deaths of four Port Alberni residents, killed in a Saturday traffic smash-up near Ladysmith, was adjourned at the Island lumber town Monday following identification of the bodies.

Killed were Hugh A. Green, 50; Charles Rayner, 34; his wife Esabella, 39; and Mrs. Louie Capello, 50.

Louie Capello and HMCS Ontario crewman, Lyall Parke were injured. Parke is in RCN hospital here while Capello is in Ladysmith Hospital. Both are in fair condition.

The six had been attending Shearing Speedway car races here and were returning home when their late model sedan skidded and crashed into a foot-thick concrete wall at the north end of the Diamond Bridge.

Funeral for Mr. Green, thought to be the driver will be held in Port Alberni, Wednesday. Resident there for several years he has been a widower since 1952. He was employed by Home Oil distributors. He had no children.

Charles Rayner and his wife Esabella leave an adopted son, Gordon (Jerry) Spellow, 10.

A 12-year Alberni resident, Mrs. Louie Capello is survived by a son, Rodney Bolt, officer in the RCN as well as a daughter, Mrs. Velma Webber, Calgary.

Passenger on a motorcycle was badly injured at Lake Cowichan Monday night when the machine crashed off the road, RCMP reported today.

In King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan, with a fractured skull, jaw and other serious injuries, is Glen Donald Krause, employed at the lake, whose parents live at Departure Bay. His condition is reported fair.

Police said driver of the machine, Willie Como, Lake Cowichan, suffered a fractured hip. He is in the same hospital.

Hunters Shot In 2 Mishaps

Royal Jubilee Hospital here is caring for Vancouver Island's first hunting accident victims of the year.

Reported in good condition today are George Payne, 16, of 923 Craigflower, and Fred Olson, of Lake Cowichan. Both sustained similar injuries to the eye and face in separate accidents last week-end.

Payne was accidentally shot Saturday while hunting with his father in the Hillcrest district.

Olson received his injury on Sunday while hunting at the head of Cowichan Lake.

The city earlier suggested a site on May Street but the RCMP said that location was unsuitable. Topaz Park area now is under study as a possible site.

Chain Stores Hint Cut In City Milk Prices

One or Two-Cent Reduction Seen; Competitors Plan to Follow Lead

Victoria's seven Super-Valu grocery stores and six Safeway stores are expected to reduce milk prices by one or two cents early next month as a result of the government order decontrolling the milk industry above the producer level.

Other stores have indicated they will be forced to follow suit in the cutbacks.

This will mean a quart of standard milk may sell in Victoria for 22 cents instead of 24.

The Super-Valu spokesman said the size of the reduction has not been decided, but will be set later this week.

He said competition will bring it about, plus the fact that stores will be free to sell milk in cheaper paper cartons instead of glass bottles.

CONFER IN VANCOUVER

A Victoria Safeway official went to Vancouver today to discuss the price reductions with head office officials.

A decision is expected soon.

A Vancouver report said glass milk bottles may soon become a thing of the past in most stores.

The ban on milk in paper cartons is lifted under the decontrol order effective Oct. 1.

Meanwhile, the milk trade, which was strenuously opposed to decontrol, is being cautious in its statements on reaction to the order.

"We'll have to wait and see how the orders are to be applied," said Henry G. Robinson, secretary-manager of the Vancouver Island Dairyman's Association.

The local branch will meet tonight at Royal Oak Institute Hall to discuss the situation.

B.C. Federation of Agriculture secretary, C. A. Walls, said he had found confusing sections in the order and would need to study it further before commenting.

Remand Ordered In Drug Case

Dennis Charles O'Brien, 33, of 713 Pembroke, charged with unlawful possession of narcotics, was further remanded to Sept. 22 in city police court today for election of trial.

Arrested after investigations by an RCMP narcotics squad, O'Brien is alleged to have been in possession of about 100 capsules of heroin. George F. Gregory appeared for the crown, Arthur Brethour for O'Brien.

City Parks Group Probes Sale of Cemetery Plots

City Council's parks committee today asked the city manager and solicitor for a report on the sale of plots at Ross Bay cemetery, which have been protested by the Anglican Synod at Victoria.

The Synod claimed it should be given plots in substitution for those now found to be unusable in the Anglican section of the cemetery, before any further plots are sold.

A ravine the section had been filled in and plots sold, only to find, years later, that owing to drainage difficulties the plots could not be used. The city recently offered for sale about 50 plots in various other parts of the cemetery.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—What is the blue algae in Swan Lake, how does it start and is there any way of stopping the unpleasant odor now coming from the lake. S.K.

A.—The blue-green algae in Swan Lake and most small bodies of water in this district is a natural vegetation which grows in suspension on the surface. It has been in the process of dying for the last week or so which explains the unpleasant odor which will soon dissipate.

Q.—Are there any credit unions in Victoria? Mrs. D.L.

A.—There are more than 20 credit unions in the Victoria district. Most of them are affiliated with specific groups such as B.C. Government or CPE employees but members of the general public can join unions with territorial affiliations. One such is the Greater Victoria Savings Union with headquarters at suite 7, 605 Courtney Street.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

The B.C. Federation of Labor (CCL) and the B.C. Trade Union Congress (TLC) has been invited to discuss ICA Act changes with Labor Minister Lyle Wicks in Vancouver October 3.

A documentary film of the First World War will be shown at the Esquimalt Legion Hall on Monday night at 8 p.m. It is entitled "Lest We Forget." It is sponsored by the Canadian Legion, Esquimalt Branch.

The case of the missing champagne is settled.

Saturday, John Orford, of Colwood, showed a bottle of bubble for his wedding anniversary celebration in what he thought was the back seat of his black Austin.

Today the bottle went back to its original owner.

Forrest L. Shaw, member of the B.C. Power Commission, former city solicitor and leader in a movement for amalgamation of the municipalities comprising the Greater Victoria area, will speak at a public meeting sponsored by the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association in Esquimalt High School auditorium at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Extensive wilful damage was done to three cars owned by Les Blow, of Motorcycle Sales, 2647 Douglas, sometime since Saturday night, the owner told city police Monday.

Sparkplugs were broken, wires torn out and dashboard instruments smashed on all, he said. A windshield was also broken and upholstery cut with a sharp instrument.

Frederick Wayne Ford, naval rating, was fined $25 by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a car while not being the holder of a current year's driver's license.

Francis Dickens New Counsellor On Compensation

Francis Dickens of Vancouver, former assistant regional legal officer for rehabilitation with the Unemployment Insurance Commission, has been appointed to the new post of "compensation counsellor" in the provincial labor department.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said today the 56-year-old two-war veteran will start work immediately.

He was chosen from more than 200 applicants from all over Canada.

Mr. Dickens' job will be to assist compensation cases by giving advice and reviewing circumstances surrounding individual situations.

Salary is $6,000.

Mr. Dickens is a native of Manitoba and has lived in B.C. since 1937. He was educated at the University of Alberta where he obtained his Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1920 and an LL.B. in 1922.

The labor minister said Mr. Dickens has served in several capacities in B.C. where his legal knowledge has proved valuable.

Four Shopbreakers To Be Screened For Borstal School

Four young men caught by city police following a September 8 shopbreaking were ordered to Oakalla today by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court to be screened to determine if they can qualify for Borstal School.

Naval ratings James George Stewart, Raymond Williams and William G. McKee, and Rodney W. S. Wells, 869 Humboldt, last week in the same court pleaded guilty to breaking into John Weston's garage and committing theft.

All were remanded to September 22 to learn the outcome of the screening.

THIS ONE, THEY WISH, HAD GOT AWAY

Fishermen Pals' Luck Too Good to Hold

Talk to any fishermen and the subject of "the big one that got away" eventually will enter the conversation.

Talk to Roy Smith of 811 McKenzie Avenue and it'll be "the one that didn't get away" you'll hear about.

Fishing for coho with Gordon Lamont, 2201 Douglas, in a 12-foot outboard off William Head the other day, Smith had the experience of a lifetime when the wrong fish took his lure.

As a result, he was summonsed by the Federal Department of Fisheries to appear in RCMP court at Sooke this afternoon on a charge of having in his possession halibut caught in restricted waters.

Yes, it was a halibut all right, Smith admits... and what a halibut!

It went 100 pounds "on the bathroom scales" which is a talking point in itself.

To make the catch even more unusual is the fact it was taken with only 40 feet of 30-pound nylon test line trailing.

Smith was using fresh herring and a home-made dodger and was just outside a kelp bed close to shore near William Head.

It took all of the line on his reel, about 300 feet, and dragged the two men in their small boat "half way across to Port Angeles."

After three-quarters of an hour of battle and wonder on what was on the end of the line, Smith got the halibut close to the boat.

"Then we saw what all the fuss was about," he relates. At one point the thrashing whopper nearly overturned the boat.

Smith's partner finally managed to get a long-handled gaff into the "halibut" but that wasn't the end.

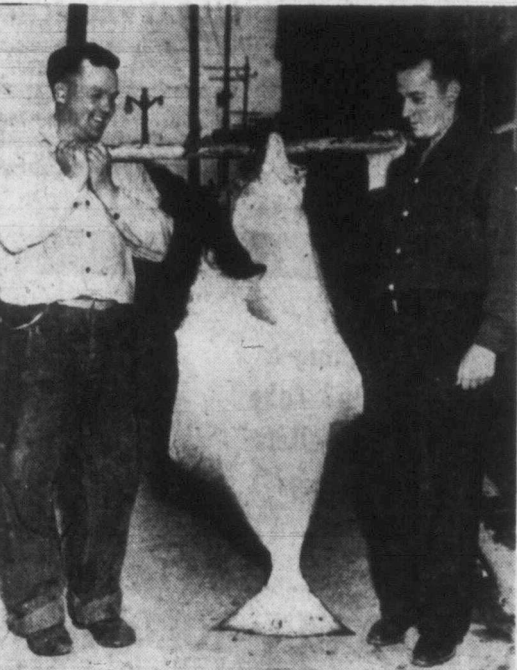

"It continued to fight us and we decided it would be suicide to try and haul it into the boat," Smith says.

They rowed to shore, dragging the fish along with the gaff, and when they got close enough to the rocks, they handed the gaff to the William Head lighthouse keeper who had been watching the struggle.

He dragged the fish up on a beach to end the fight. Knowing he was out of season in his freak catch, Smith contacted provincial game officials.

"They told me I was all right," he says, "but some sportsmen friends disagreed so I went to the federal people and told them about it."

"Yeah, the summons came later..."

SHOPPING GUIDE

Have a Reversible Belt
Made of Favorite Colors

By PENNY SAVER

You'll save a lot of money and have a smarter belt to show for it if you get yours hand-made in the leather of your choice... and here's a point you shouldn't miss! These belts (about one and a half or two inches in width) cost $3.50, but for just $1 more you can have them made reversible, with another color, or even a different leather on the other side! You see, the buckle unsnaps to attach on the reverse side. Buckles, by the way are neat and shiny in silver or gold and belts are smartly stitched.

Girls, this particular little shop will make a belt for you, no matter what it is you want. Just tell them about it and they will follow your instructions to a "T".

Let me suggest the style with the double buckle. It's a combination of calf leather and your favorite tartan. Have one made to match your kit. Price is $3.95, or with Scottish crest, $4.95.

Narrow snakeskin belts will make that tailored dress of yours look truly classy! In a wide variety of colors, this honey of a belt costs just $2.95. That certainly is reasonable for real, honest-to-goodness snakeskin!

Hand-made in British Columbia are highly-polished sandwich trays and salad bowls, which are priced from $3.50. They are fashioned from aromatic cedar, birch, mahogany, Walnut. Some are even combinations of all, making an ornament to be proud of as well as a serviceable kitchen item.

Low flower bowls of hammered copper can make a spray of fall flowers look magnificent. The copper would combine perfectly with bronze and gold chrysanthemums. Bowls are hand-made in Sidney and cost $4.95, $6.95 or $10 depending upon size.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Takes More Than Haircut
To Make a Man Look Neat

We women can help the man in our lives if we help him with the finer points of grooming.

Every once in a while "Why Grow Old?" gives the men a break. Actually, men are as interested as women are in physical fitness, nutrition and longevity. They are also much more interested in their appearance than many people realize, and women are extremely interested in the way their beaus, husbands, fathers and brothers look.

Today I am bringing some advice for men, straight from Hollywood's Max Factor, Jr., good looks counselor to both men and women. He contends that there is much more to a man's hair than a good barber-shop cut, more to a mustache than a trim with fine-bladed scissors; that when a man is "hep" to the optical illusion of lines, he can fool the public just as his little lady does.

Here are his suggestions for the man with a long thin face and a long neck. If this is the case with your heart-throb introduce him to shirt collars with rounded points. Long pointed collars make his neck look longer. The collar should fit high on the neck. His ties should be wide and the knot should be tied double if the tie looks too narrow when tied only once. The only man who should wear a bow tie is the one with a normal oval face and an average slim neck.

If your man wears a mustache it should be straight across and fairly wide. This will work wonders in shortening the appearance of his face. This type face should never wear a pencil-thin mustache or a droopy one.

With a long or lean face the man should part his hair on the side.

Max Factor, Jr., says that the three focal points for a man's polished appearance are, a cleanly barbered look around the neck, well-heeled and polished shoes, a fresh collar and an impeccably tied tie. Add to these the usual gimmicks of good grooming and he will be a candidate for the highest Beau Brummel honors.

TODAY'S RECIPE

OLD-FASHIONED BEEF and LIMA SOUP

One and one-half cups California large dry limas, 3 cups cold water, 2 pounds beef brisket or chuck, 1 No. 2½ can tomatoes, celery leaves, parsley sprigs, 2 cups chopped celery, 3 chopped onions, 2 diced cloves garlic, 1 tablespoon salt, pepper to taste.

Soak limas in the water several hours or overnight. Add beef, tomatoes, and celery leaves and parsley tied in a bunch. Cover and boil gently two hours. Stir in chopped celery, onion, garlic, salt and pepper. Simmer one hour longer or until meat is tender. Slice meat and serve with soup or at a later meal if desired. Serves six.

Study Program—Educational program for 1953-1954 season was presented by provincial educational convener Mrs. N. Milburn at a recent meeting of the Canadian Daughters' League, Assembly No. 5. Mrs. Gladys Jasper presided. "Arts and crafts of Canada made by Canadian women" are to be studied and demonstrated. Mrs. E. M. Maundrell is to be convener of the committee. Current events will also be given at intervals. A report was received from the sick visiting committee. Members are to bring novelties made during summer for novelty tea to be held in October to next meeting. Members also were reminded of rummage sale to be held October 28.

Carnations, Heather Deck
St. Matthias' Church Altar

Kneeling on white satin cushions, Marion Sylvia, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Williamson, Edmonton, and James Dudley Williams, son of Mrs. Williams and the late Mr. C. J. Williams, exchanged wedding vows recently in an afternoon ceremony at St. Matthias' Church. Rev. F. E. M. Tomalin officiated. Pink and white carnations intermingled with heather were arranged on the altar and baskets of gladioli adorned the chancel.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white lace, ballerina style. The scalloped bodice separated, revealing accordion pleated nylon. Over the strapless gown she wore a bolero jacket with long lily point sleeves. She carried a prayer book corsage and wore golden nylon brilliant-studded slippers. For "something old," the bride carried her great-grandmother's handkerchief. She wore a close-fitting white nylon hat with an ostrich feather.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Chester J. Williams, chose an ice blue taffeta gown with matching jacket. She wore a hat of brown straw and a corsage of sweetheart roses. Brother of the groom, Chester J. Williams, was best man.

A small reception following the service was held at the home of Insp. and Mrs. Charles H. Harvey, 1940 Forrester Street. Rooms were decorated with pink and white carnations and mauve stocks. The bride's table was centred with a tiered wedding cake flanked by white candles. Toast to the bride was proposed by Insp. Harvey.

Telegrams were received from Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Wylie, Duncan; Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Wylie, Valparaiso, Sask.; Mr.

Delegate Presents Report to Local Council of Women

Dr. Marian Sherman, delegate from the Local Council of Women to meeting of the National Council, held in Winnipeg, gave a full and comprehensive report Monday afternoon, when the Local Council held its first meeting at YWCA, after the summer recess.

"Eighty-nine delegates attended the 60th annual meeting," said Dr. Sherman. She described as a highlight, the trip to the Peace Gardens at Boiesvane where a plaque was unveiled to honor Lady Aberdeen, first president of National Council of Women.

Among speakers at the meetings had been Dr. Marshall, Dr. Clark Wright, Dr. Wallace Wilson and Dr. L. Saunders. Dr. Sherman also brought back suggestions on financing local councils.

Mrs. R. D. Harvey, who presided at yesterday's meeting, thanked Dr. Sherman for her report. Other reports were received from Mrs. Mortimer, on finance, and Miss Ellen Hart, on "I Am Canadian" Day. Members were asked to take back to their societies the question of fees to Local Council and be prepared to deal with the question at the October meeting. It was announced that Provincial Council meetings will be held October 1 and 2 in Vancouver.

Delegates Appointed—At a recent meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute, delegates were appointed to attend the annual meeting of the South Vancouver Island district to be held in Duncan later this month. Mrs. A. Mills is official delegate and Mrs. H. B. Petersen is institute delegate. Plans were made for serving lunch and afternoon tea at Metchison District Farmers' Institute Fall Fair, Saturday.

AS WE LIVE

Catering to Whims
Is Price of Peace

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

As people grow old, they tend to allow their feelings to be hurt easily. What is the best way to handle this problem? A young woman writes:

shortness of temper at this point. I want to be fair and kind but I can't stand much more of this kind of life."

(A)—It is very hard for a young wife to be saddled with the burden of caring for an ailing mother-in-law from the day she returns from her honeymoon.

To make life more pleasant for yourself, your husband, and your mother-in-law, you must learn to handle her with kid gloves. Call black white if it will make her happy. Be pleasant and agreeable, no matter how trying she may be. Cater to her whims if by doing so you can keep peace in the home. You and everyone else concerned will profit by this policy.

Because you have been accustomed to living with healthy people, you may not know how to handle those in poor health. I think you would understand the situation better and be more tolerant of your mother-in-law's whims if you talked over the whole matter with her doctor.

As a special service to our readers Dr. Hurlock has written a 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems." For your copy send 15 cents in coin with a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Seen at Opening

Costumes worn at the opening of Legislature this afternoon emphasized the fall season in color and fabric. Mrs. Wallace, accompanying her husband, Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace, wore a bronze satin dress, small white pill-box hat of tulle with side pompadour of marabou and a silver-blue mink cape. Miss Ruth MacLean was with Mrs. Wallace, wearing a smart black suit and small white hat. Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett had selected a platinum grey wool dressmaker suit with which she wore navy accessories.

Mrs. Bonner, wife of Attorney-General Robert Bonner, wore a black worsted wool suit with rhinestone and pearl trimming on collar and at the neckline, black hat with similar trim and a grey squirrel stole. Mrs. Ralph Chetwynd was smart in a tailored grey wool suit with grey and white accessories, and Mrs. Wesley Black wore a pin stripe navy dressmaker suit with plain navy skirt, navy velvet hat with sequin trim and red accessories. A beige crepe dress and small brown felt hat with feather cockade was the choice of Mrs. R. E. Sommers.

Returns From Trip Around the World

Miss J. E. M. Bruce, 1216 Douglas Street, returned Saturday from a seven-month trip around the world. She visited Honolulu, New Zealand, Australia, Fiji Islands, Java, Malaya, Singapore, Ceylon, Pakistan, Israel, Cyprus, Greece, Italy, France, England and Scotland among other places. She attended the conference of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, in Toronto, and following the conference went on a tour through the Maritime provinces.

Feted by Former Classmates

Honoring Miss Pat Emery, popular bride-elect of this month, Mrs. W. C. Roberts and Mrs. Joan Rees entertained recently at the home of the former on Cedar Hill Road. Guests, former classmates of the guest of honor from Mt. Douglas High School and friends, were Mrs. D. Emery, Mrs. M. Martindale, Mrs. Irene Anderson, Mrs. Evelyn Smith, Mrs. Evelyn Hartley, Mrs. Edith Price, Mrs. Marion Cox, Mrs. Evelyn Lester, Mrs. May Panter, Mrs. Thelma Ritchie, Mrs. Shirley Duncan and Misses Mary Lewis and Guida Rees.

Shower for Dorothy Lewis

Bride-elect, Miss Dorothy Lewis, was recently honored at a shower held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Moore, 2741 Fifth Street. A corsage of pink roses was presented to the guest of honor. Her mother, Mrs. C. A. Lewis, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. H. W. Gallop, received roses and gladioli. Present were Mrs. P. Lewis, Mrs. E. Musgrave, Mrs. D. Bosson, Mrs. Charles Lewis, Mrs. H. Brien, Mrs. A. Gallop, Mrs. T. Luscombe, Mrs. Mason and Misses Babs Hotchkiss, Eileen Spokely, Marlene Moody, Inez Lewis, Charlotte Lewis, Bonita Chan, Mona Gee, Beth Thompson, Bobby Lewis and Belle Luscombe.

Reunion and Farewell

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Hindmarch were hosts recently at their home, 220 McCleary Street, Nanaimo, in compliment and farewell to Mrs. G. Ballantyne, a sister of Mrs. Hindmarch, who is returning to England this month after spending three months on the island. The affair was the first family reunion in 35 years. Brothers and sisters, with their families, who were present were Mrs. W. Knapp, 352 Moss Street, Victoria; Mrs. W. Moore, Mr. D. Robinson and Mr. G. Robinson, all of Nanaimo. Mrs. Ballantyne's son, Douglas, who accompanied his mother from England, will remain a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hindmarch for another three months.

To Study at Berkeley

Miss Patricia G. Carstens, 2695 Topp Avenue, left yesterday for Berkeley, Calif., where she has been awarded a teaching fellowship at the University of California. Miss Carstens graduated from Oak Bay High School, receiving second highest marks in the province. She was awarded the gold watch as the student with highest standing in her second year at Victoria College and graduated with first-class honors in English from UBC this year. She will live at International House while studying for her master of arts degree.

From New York

Mrs. Shirley Clark, New York, who has been visiting her father, Mr. G. H. Maynard, on Mayne Island, is now the guest of Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Hincks, 1161 Burnside Road. Before returning east, she will stay a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Stewart G. Clark, 1553 Crescent.

Receives Names

Paul Richard were the names bestowed upon the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins, Crescent Road, in a christening ceremony on Sunday in St. Matthias Church. Rev. F. E. M. Tomalin officiated. Godparents of the baby are Miss Dianne Colton, Palo Alto, Calif.; Miss Joyce Craigie and Mr. Ron Gardier, Victoria. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Unwin, 1840 Crescent Road, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Jenkins, 1750 Hampshire Road. Following the ceremony tea was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Unwin.

'Mr. Canada' Builds New Relationships in Old Japan

(The following is the second dispatch to appear on these pages from Miss Elizabeth Forbes, Victoria Daily Times women's editor, now touring Japan. Others will follow from time to time.)

By ELIZABETH FORBES

His Excellency Robert W. Mayhew, P.C., ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary (designated)—"Bob" to his many friends in Victoria—is Mr. Canada in Japan.

Surrounding him is the setting of a walled garden that once was part of the Imperial Palace, the tall white Embassy Building where he and Mrs. Mayhew live, receive guests and entertain, and the smaller administration building called the Chancery.

It is at the Chancery that a staff of 21 (including secretaries, stenographers, commissioners and six Japanese interpreters), joined by attaches and liaison officers of Canada's armed forces in Japan, work with Mr. Canada to firmly cement the friendship he feels for the Japanese people into a structure that will last for years.

Seeing Bob Mayhew in the setting of the Canadian Embassy and watching him as he moves quietly about his work, you are impressed by his sincerity of purpose and his quiet determination to accomplish the task he has set himself.

What that task is he does not tell everyone! But it certainly has to do with helping the Japanese people to create a stable economy if he possibly can and in trying to make Canada and the majority of Canadian people change their ideas in regard to Japan and in the formation of plans that will increase co-operation between the two countries.

"It is not a case of 'giving' to Japan as so many in Canada seem to think," Bob Mayhew will tell you. "Anything we do, any agreement we enter with them must be a 50-50 proposition if we are to keep their friendship and their respect."

Right now Mr. Mayhew is the pivot around which plans for a new trade treaty ebb and flow.

He wants that treaty. But he knows it must please everyone. And so, with his knowledge of the weakness and strength of people, his tolerance and his understanding of the thinking of both sides, he acts as go-between.

He knows the shoals to be avoided and the rocks to be skirted in the swift flowing stream of events and he must, with a quiet word here and well placed remark there, ceaselessly strive to keep the craft he has launched on an even keel.

Coupled with this important work of international relations, are the every day happenings of an Embassy, in which Mr. Mayhew must take a part.

The Embassy must also keep an eye on individual members of Canada's armed forces in Japan who may get into trouble on leave and be arrested by Japanese police. Through the Embassy negotiations are immediately started to get them back so they may be tried and sentenced by their own authorities.

There's the Merchant Marine, too. Men on leave from various ships—who are arrested by Japanese police. The Embassy must see that these men get justice.

They come ashore from their ships, with the thought of seeing Japan. Before they know it, they find themselves in trouble. Some of them go under cover, even jump ship.

Eventually they turn up—perhaps six months later—then the embassy has to try to get them out of their trouble. It's sometimes serious trouble by Japanese standards.

For instance, the ambassador explains that arson is highest on the crime list in Japan. And that's easy to understand after seeing the tightly packed, flimsy paper and bamboo homes and native shops. If a Canadian is responsible for setting a fire, however small it may be, he is in serious trouble. If the embassy could not get him out of the hands of the Japanese police he would be tried and heavily sentenced.

Recently a merchant marine sailor was released by the Japanese police. No ship of his own company would be in port for six months so the company wired to send him home at their expense on the first ship to leave. But he had no presentable clothes for traveling as a passenger.

The embassy found clothes for him—where?—well, there was a tailor in the embassy at the time, making a suit for the ambassador. The trouser legs were shortened and the sleeves turned up a bit—and the merchant man had a suit.

DAY STARTS AT 7 A.M.
At the Canadian embassy statistics on cost of living in Japan are prepared every six months. Information on growth of industries must be gathered. The story behind some particular economic or political situation pieced together. And the ambassador must read and digest all these facts before they are sent off to Ottawa.

Mr. Mayhew's day starts at 7

Now on Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. William Krul, who were married recently in First United Church, are now spending a honeymoon in Portland, Ore. The bride is Nancy Barbara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. ## Reports Heard by VON Cover Vacation Months

A report on work done in the three-month vacation period was given by Miss E. Riddle at the first fall meeting of the senior board of Victorian Order of Nurses held recently at Spencerhouse. Mrs. Dudley Markham presided. Miss Riddle is acting nursing director during the absence of Miss M. Baird who is in Ottawa attending the conference of district superintendents and national supervisors.

Patients visited during the summer totaled 4,886, an increase over 1952, of 697. Miss Riddle reported. Patients admitted were 719 and 39 visits were paid to View Royal.

Mrs. Markham gave a report on the delegation to the minister of health which had represented the nine branches of VON in B.C. Mr. W. M. Moore reported the forming of a committee in View Royal, with the following elected: Mrs. Pearce, Miss M. Hodge, Miss K. Dodd, Mrs. Appleby, Miss R. Crowe, Mrs. Allen, Mr. Bevington and Mr. Moore.

Mrs. A. Wyllie reported the buying of a new car, Mrs. W. Findlay gave a financial report and Mrs. A. T. Reynolds told the meeting that cards had been printed giving full particulars of VON services to be distributed to all doctors' offices. Mrs. Reynolds was appointed chairman of the VON canvass for Community Chest drive.

Reports Given—At the first fall meeting of the Victoria Nursing Home Auxiliary, the following reports were given: Mrs. R. G. Aitken, treasurer's report; Mrs. J. L. Gayton, correspondence; Mrs. A. H. Banks, report on visiting committee; Mrs. G. Holt and Mrs. I. Woolley, mending and sewing report. Plans were made for a canasta party and it was decided to hold a rummage sale and the annual Christmas tree and bazaar.

Europe Council Body Opens Parley Today

STRASBOURG, France (UP)—The Consultative Assembly of the Council of Europe opened its fall session today.

The jumping-off point for the debate at the current meeting will be still secret report by Paul-Henri Spaak, former premier of Belgium. Sources have seen the text said the Belgian statesman proposed in addition to a four-power conference "without prior conditions," these goals:

- 1—A United Europe in a unified western world.
- 2—A unified Germany within the European community, neither neutral nor demilitarized.
- 3—A multilateral security pact among the Soviet Union, the United States, Great Britain and United Europe, within the framework of the United Nations and open to other states.
- 4—A demilitarized zone on each side of the eastern frontier of United Europe.

A second critical issue—the future of the coal-rich Saar—was blocked from the agenda when the political committee bowed to West German objections.

Policeman's Murder Disturbs Czech Night

Foreign Correspondent Relates Events Leading to His Arrest

EDITOR'S NOTE: William M. Oatis, the Associated Press correspondent who was jailed by Communists in Czechoslovakia for more than two years is relating his experiences in a series of articles. In the one below he tells of some of the events just before his arrest.

(Copyright 1953 by The Associated Press)

By WILLIAM OATIS

One night in February of 1951 the Prague radio broadcast that a policeman had been shot to death near Charles Square in downtown Prague. The killers had escaped. The public was asked to tell the police anything known about them.

In that killing, I saw only one item in the day-to-day grist of news that passed through the office. Actually, it was an event that was to wield an enormous influence on my own life.

About a month later Mrs. Hana Svoboda came into the office. She was the wife of Thomas Svoboda, one of my translators, and the mother of his baby daughter. She was looking for her husband, and she was weeping.

He was off that day and nobody in the office had seen him. His wife, who had a clerical job and had worked herself during the day, would say only that he had left the apartment where they lived with her parents, and had not come back.

Svoboda never came back to work, either. I reported his disappearance to the Ministry of Information, which had approved his employment by the AP, and to the police.

But neither was any help in tracing him. And as I learned more about what had happened that day his wife had come looking for him, I was pretty sure I knew why.

While Svoboda was in the apartment with his mother-in-law, a strange man had come asking for him. Svoboda had talked with the man briefly in another window across the street. Others, haunting a passageway beside our building, had watched our visitors.

On Friday morning, April 20, I awoke about 8.30 in my room at the Ambassador Hotel and telephoned the office to see if there had been any news worth picking up on Prague's morning newscast.

Our night watchman, who spoke only Czech and German, answered the telephone. I asked for Peter Muntz, the translator who had been due on the job an hour and a half earlier. The old man said, "Hein, nein" — "No, no."

I called Muntz's apartment. His wife said, "Mr. Oatis, my husband is at office." I waited awhile and then called the office again. Again the watchman answered, but a moment later somebody else was on the wire, telling me in broken English that Muntz was not there.

It was a man whose voice I did not recognize. And I thought, "This is a cop. Muntz has been arrested, and if I go to the office the man who he was fixing the telephone machines."

I drove to the U.S. Embassy. I told the counsellor, Tyler Thompson. I was afraid police were in my office. On his advice, I had Miss Mary Horak, an embassy secretary, telephone the office and speak Czech with the alleged telephone repairman. He told her exactly what he was doing to the machines, and we decided he was no impostor—and no policeman.

Tatraplan was the third car behind me. But a few seconds later I turned up the hill and parked opposite the embassy.

TWO SHADOWS

I looked back. The black automobile had not followed me into the side street. I ran across to the embassy gate. And for the first time in many minutes I felt safe.

Sgt. Harry Morrissey of the military attaché's office was on guard duty in the front office. I asked if the counsellor, Thompson, was in. He said everybody had gone on a picnic except Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs, who was ill at home.

"Do you want to talk to the ambassador?" he asked. "No," I said, "I won't bother him."

I returned to the office. Another black Tatraplan picked up my trail and followed me all the way, parking up the street from the office.

I walked back and looked at the two men seated in it—a little bald fellow with a fringe of grey hair and a thin, swarthy youth who looked Italian—both of them in shirtsleeves. I said: "SIB?" (That is the Czech abbreviation for the official name of the secret police, the Státní Bezpečnost (State Security).)

The dark young man rotated an index finger beside his right ear. It was a gesture that means, in any language, "You have wheels in your head."

That evening I was lying on my bed at the hotel when Thompson telephoned, back from the picnic and anxious to know if I was all right. I told him I would see him the next day.

But I did not. Because the next day—Monday, April 23, 1951—six men walked into my office and arrested me.

'Y' SEEKS DANCE HOSTESSES; SERVICEMEN OUTNUMBER GIRLS

Servicemen's Monday night dances at the YMCA are so short of hostesses that an appeal has been issued by Mrs. M. Bliss of the Y's Hostess Club for more members.

Miss Bliss will interview interested young women at the YMCA Thursday night at 8 p.m. The supervised dances have become top-heavy with sailor guests with the increase in naval complements on this coast.

Vancouver Curbs Gas Heat In 18,000 Sleeping Rooms

VANCOUVER (CP)—Complete ban on new installations of gas appliances in Vancouver's 18,000 rented rooms was approved Monday by city council.

The move was taken to curb the toll of accidental deaths from gas poisoning.

Aldermen ruled appliances now in use in sleeping rooms must be fitted with approved safety shutoff devices within six months or be removed. Gas heaters must be fitted with automatic pilots.

Health Officer Dr. Stewart Murray reported there were 19 accidental gas deaths from January 1 to July 31 this year. There were also 27 gas suicides. Last year, there were 40 accidental deaths and 45 suicides.

Truman Seeks Stevenson's Attack on GOP Policy

CHICAGO (AP)—Former U.S. president Truman seconded vigorously today Adlai E. Stevenson's blistering criticism of the Eisenhower administration foreign policies at a Democratic rally Monday night.

Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential nominee, told cheering Democrats at a $100-a-plate dinner the Republican administration has made "hollow" gestures "abroad, poked its nose in the affairs of other nations, permitted 'sneers at home' and had cut defense and foreign aid while tossing 'threatening words' at the Communists."

Truman, who previously had voiced some free-swinging criticisms of the "wrecking crew," he said was at work in Washington, applauded Stevenson's sharp attack on Eisenhower foreign policies.

Later he told reporters the Republicans can do no anything else but follow the international policies the Democrats had laid down.

"But I am worried about the way the Republicans are carrying out our policies," he said.

B.C. Electric said it had neither used the roads for testing buses or training drivers for two years on its own account and will not in future as a result of council's request.

"We understand, however, that it has been the practice of the motor vehicle branch of the Provincial Government upon occasion to have our student drivers take their class A driver's license tests using our buses on the roads in the park," R. B. Mathews, executive assistant to the vice-president, wrote the city clerk's office.

DIALOGUE OF PEGGY BUYING LAMPS

PEGGY DOESN'T LIKE HER PICTURE IN THE PAPER

"after all, I'm not that drab about life . . . not yet." She muttered. "The lamp, it's too sombre for me, really, just too, too sombre. Haven't you something that . . . well, more my type?"

For just a second the heavy-lidded eyes closed, his eyes, before he moved with careful restraint to another shelf.

He brought the lamp to the edge where she could examine it, and watched her with a pence born of years of selling.

She dismissed it with a wave of her hand. "Too frivolous." She studied the next one, with just a faint hint of disdain, before she said, "Too severe."

And the next: "Too fluffy and lacy."

And the next: "Oh, no! Too extravagant. I could never take an outrageous thing like that in my store."

The traveler rubbed his handkerchief across the back of his neck, and a slight tightening was discernible in his jaws as he smiled once again:

"Wouldn't you like to just look around? If you find anything you'd like . . ."

An outraged look crosses her face, and she fixed him with a steely eye.

"Well, I never . . . buyers should be treated courteously. They should be waited upon graciously. Believe me, my Brothers will hear of this."

Is it any wonder they call our Lamps Peggy's sculptured originals? She drives the travelers nuts . . . But you'll love a woman's touch of buying. Come in soon.

Marshal Takes Own Life After Posse Kills Boy

ASHFORD, Wash. (UP)—A hysterical. He was sure he had fired the fatal shot. The other men attempted to reason with him, explaining that a bullet from any one of the guns could have killed the boy.

Finally Tharp calmed down and the others turned away. Seconds later they heard a shot. Pierce County sheriff's deputies said it had not been determined from which gun the fatal bullet was fired.

Marshal Floyd Tharp, 41, of Morton, was assisting sheriff's deputies in an effort to halt three persons seen tampering with an automobile gas tank at a resort near Mt. Rainier National Park.

The automobile crashed through the roadblock amid a hail of bullets fired by Tharp and the two other officers. The vehicle swerved off the road and crashed down an embankment.

When the deputies reached the overturned car they found three youngsters—Rollie Weston, 14; Terry Stowell, 14; and Kenneth Nelson, 13, all of Seattle. Young Nelson was shot but could talk. The boys said they had run away from home and the car belonged to the father of one of the boys.

The officers carried the Nelson lad back to the highway, but

Congenital Defects Often Are Treated Successfully

It is entirely possible for a child born with a club foot, webbed fingers, a cleft palate or some other inborn malformation to rise to heights of fame, and indeed to receive national and international acclaim. This has been done in many fields of human endeavor and speaks well for the ability of human beings to overcome adversity.

Such conditions as those mentioned and many other physical variations from normal may be present at birth and naturally come as a shock to the parents. All, or most of them, are the results of incomplete development inside the womb of the mother and are not really inherited.

What causes them is still not

Trophy to Honor Late Worker in Butchart Gardens

A new trophy in memory of a man who was associated all his life with the development of Victoria's famous Butchart Gardens, will be awarded for the first time at the Victoria Horticultural Society's fall show at the Crystal Garden on Friday and Saturday.

It is known as the Shiner Memorial trophy. It was presented by the Horticultural Society in memory of Stanley Shiner, who died last November.

Mr. Shiner was well-known as a gardener in Canada and the United States. He started to work at Butchart Gardens as a boy with his father. At the time of his death, he was in charge of the seed house and plant raising.

The society has created a new class for this trophy. It calls for a bowl of annuals (not less than four varieties) and is open for competition among members and non-members of the society.

J. N. Clark, secretary, said entries for this trophy should be made before Friday.

Home Burns

NELSON (CP)—The home of W. J. E. Biker was destroyed by fire Monday and police said the loss had no connection with the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors. Mr. Biker is the father of J. E. Biker, an official of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company.

entirely clear although if now seems that infections of the mother with German measles and possibly other diseases, while she is carrying the child, greatly increase the likelihood of this sort of trouble. Certainly, it is a good idea for the prospective mothers to dodge exposure to infections, and particularly German measles, just as carefully as possible.

PARENTS DISTRESSED

A newborn baby with a club foot or other inborn malformation almost certainly does not suffer pain, but the parents are acutely distressed. They want to know if it is their fault, what can be done for it, will it interfere with the child's physical or mental development, and how likely is it to happen again with other children.

It is not the fault of the parents. There is nothing they could have done to prevent it (except to avoid contagious disease during pregnancy). What can be done is something else. A lot can be done for hair lip, cleft palate, club foot and several of the other congenital malformations, especially if they are attacked early enough.

For this reason parents should promptly consult someone who knows about these conditions, even if manipulation or operation is to be postponed for a few months or years. The more that can be done, of course, the less will be the interference with the child's normal development.

ONCE IN 213 BIRTHS

As to the chances of having a later child with a congenital defect, one has to deal with average figures. The parents of one malformed child have about seven chances out of eight that the next child will be normal, whereas taking all births, a congenital defect occurs only about once in 213.

From the physical standpoint the disadvantages can often be largely overcome by modern treatment methods. It is equally important to battle the mental effects. The sympathetic understanding of parents, teachers, and the rest of us help, but the will to overcome obstacles on the part of the youngster himself is the most important.

Many youngsters with these congenital defects are remarkable in the way they face and surmount their problems.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Once the simple rules of culture are understood, growing bulbs is one of the easiest forms of gardening. Success is far more likely than failure, since the complete plant is already present in embryo, and needs only moisture and heat to bring it into our view.

Much of course, depends on the skill and growing conditions under which the bulbs were raised, but if new stock is being purchased this fall from a reliable source, little anxiety need be felt over the results.

To ensure a continuance of good bloom, there are a few basic rules of culture for the planting of the spring flowering bulbs.

Dig the bed or border well, incorporating rotted compost or old manure, and some coarse sand if the soil is a heavy clay. The better the drainage, the better the health of the bulb.

O'Brien Still at Sea

MARSEILLE, France (CP)—Michael Patrick O'Brien, the man without a country, arrived today by ship from Brazil and as usual was refused permission to enter the country.

Add no general fertilizer at this time.

If all the spring bulbs are being planted into a small area, it would be a good idea to place groups of each kind. A single plant of tulip or daffodil will not give as much pleasure as will a group of half a dozen or so. Plant the taller varieties further back than the dwarf ones. The tiny Chionodoxa, Scilla, Galanthus (snowdrops) and crocus should be near the edge or pathway for full enjoyment. If naturalizing in larger areas, throw in handbells, and plant exactly where they fall.

With a few small bulbs, particularly, do not waste them by spacing too far apart. A dozen planted irregularly in a square foot will be a spot of beauty. Two to three inches deep is sufficient for them to go; while the depth of the trowel blade, about six inches, is right for all the narcissi and tulips. At the bottom of each hole a scattering of bonemeal will provide food in the spring, enabling the bulb to develop the following year's bounty of bloom.

"A flower show every week" was the enthusiastic wish of a gardener at the View Royal Garden Club's recent fire show. This is almost possible during September. Friday and Saturday of this week will see the colorful fall show of the Victoria Horticultural Society at the Crystal Garden. Fruits, vegetables and flowers, mostly with names attached, will be seen in competition.

Island Could Use Land for More Poultry

"Vancouver Island's poultry population could easily be doubled—and that is a conservative estimate."

This is the expert opinion of S. J. Sanders, president of the Canadian Federation of Hatchery Associations (western division), now in Victoria for the association's 15th annual convention.

Mr. Sanders quoted the poultry section of the department of agriculture marketing report which said Vancouver Island was a deficiency area—insufficient eggs and poultry were produced on the island to supply the inhabitants.

"A large number of eggs and chickens are shipped into the island from the mainland when there is no reason at all why this should have to be necessary," he said.

"In fact the island is ideal for poultry breeding. There is very little rain and the ground is porous. Another enormous advantage is that much of the land on the island now lying fallow is of no possible agricultural use. Hundreds of acres could be adapted for poultry-raising in no time," he added.

Churchmen Warn Against Peace Body Referendum

TORONTO (CP) — Protestants and Roman Catholic in Toronto have been urged by their leaders to ignore a referendum by the Canadian Peace Congress which began a house-to-house circulation here Saturday.

The referendum asks: "Do you favor a meeting of the leading powers with a view to solving through negotiation, questions which threaten the peace of the world?"

Separate warnings were issued by James Cardinal McGuigan, archbishop of Toronto; Rt. Rev. A. R. Beverley, Anglican bishop of Toronto, and Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, the general secretary of the general council of the United Church of Canada.

300 Pupils Escape N.S. School Fire

STELLARTON, N.S. (CP) — Fire destroyed the Lourdes parish school here Monday and caused damage estimated unofficially at nearly $100,000. Nuns led more than 300 children to safety. There were no injuries.

Increase in Police Urged for Esquimalt

An increase in the Esquimalt police force was urged in a recommendation to the police commission by the council Monday night.

"Our present police force is inadequate, I'm saying it now and I'm going to say a lot more about it too," said Mr. G. K. Sammon.

The matter arose following a report by Mr. G. R. Guillemaud that "it's suicide to attempt to cross Craigflower Road afoot."

He charged that traffic does not slow for crosswalks anywhere in the area between Tillamook and Dominion Road, on Craigflower. "There should be

Civic Reception For Convention Principals Urged

A civic reception for senior members of visiting conventions was urged Monday at a meeting of the Tourist Trade Group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Accountant G. Fitzpatrick Dunn complained to the group that at the recent CICA meet here, attended by 500 delegates from all over Canada, the only civic acknowledgement was a letter from the mayor.

Other citizens entertain executives of visiting conventions, he said, and suggested that some similar arrangement should be worked out here if Victoria is to compete as a convention city.

"That's the mayor's job and we should remind him of it," interjected C. N. Nelles. The meeting will plan its own greeting for a convention of the Dominion Tourist Trade Group here in October.

Vancouver Resident Diphtheria Victim

VANCOUVER (CP) — The first diphtheria death in Vancouver in more than two years was reported Monday by city health officials. The health department identified the victim only as an elderly tugboat captain and said he died Thursday.

Tourist Boosters To Issue Weekly 3-Color Brochure

"This Week in Victoria" will be the name of a new weekly publication to be issued by the Tourist Trade Group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce beginning October 5.

Aimed at telling visitors to the city where entertainment may be found, it will be in the form of a three-color folder. Each week the cover will include a photograph of the "Personality of the Week." First local personage selected to appear will be Hans Gruber, conductor of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra.

"I turned in a report that two boys were attempting to steal a car one night recently and only one policeman was available to investigate," he claimed.

The advice that the council were powerless to act on police matters without going through the police commission brought the response from Mr. W. H. Dallaway that "It's my opinion we should do away with the police commission and put the police under the council."

"We haven't had a report from the police commission in 12 months," stated Mr. J. E. Carey.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele, who also acts as chairman of the police commission, said he would provide one at any time.

Discussion ended with the motion that the commission should be asked to have police checks on speeders on Craigflower and that the present staff should be increased.

Nanaimo Fair to Run 4 Days

NANAIMO—Entries pouring in to Lois Morgan, fair secretary, indicated today that a new record will be set for competitors in all classes of the four-day fair to open here Wednesday.

Mayor George Muir will declare the fair open at 9 a.m., and the program will start with dog obedience tests in connection with the kennel show. Glenda Sjöberg, 16, will be crowned queen of the fair during the afternoon's festivities.

A prize list of $6,100 is offered. The four days will be devoted in order to dog lovers, farmers, children, and Saturday will be "family day."

UN Refuses to Hear Red China Plea

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (BUP)—The United Nations General Assembly today refused to consider for the rest of this year a Russian demand for a seat for Communist China.

The demand had been made by Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky. However, the United States countered with a proposal to postpone any consideration of it "for the current year" and the American proposal was passed by a vote of 44 to 10 with two abstentions.

SAME WORK, SAME WAGES

Government Asks Equal Treatment For Both Sexes

House Hears Legislative Program Outlined In Speech Read by Lieutenant-Governor

By GORDON FORBES

Legislation requiring British Columbia employers to provide equal pay for men and women doing equal work will be introduced at the current session of the Legislature.

This was indicated this afternoon in the Speech from the Throne read by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace as he opened the first session of the 24th Legislature.

"It is proposed to introduce certain measures to ensure fair remuneration to female employees," he told the House.

The government, it is expected, will introduce a bill setting out an "Equal Pay Act" which will ensure that women get the same pay as men for comparable jobs.

Ontario and Saskatchewan are the only other Canadian provinces which give women such recognition.

The measure will mean pay increases for thousands of B.C. women.

This was the only new piece of legislation mentioned in the Throne Speech.

Many other measures, uncompleted at the spring session, are assured of completion at this session because Premier W. A. C. Bennett's administration now has a majority.

Natural Resources Levy Intimated

Other measures the lieutenant-governor said would be referred to the House included:

• A bill to provide additional revenue from the province's natural resources. This will be a 10 per cent tax on profits of logging and mining companies above $25,000.

• Amendments to the Provincial Elections Act. These are expected to be extensive and may include abolition of the alternative voting system.

• New liquor legislation. This will provide B.C. with a "drinks-by-the-glass" system.

• Ten per cent reduction in car license fees, effective next year.

• Sales tax exemption on restaurant meals increased to 51.

• Establishment of an assessment commission to equalize assessment values for school purposes throughout the province. This is part of the Rolston Formula, and probably the only part which will be implemented at this session.

• Legislation aimed at solving the Doukhobor problem. This is expected to give Doukhobors the franchise and recognize their marriage ceremony.

• Distribution of the $15,000 police reward fund, built up by the old B.C. police.

• Appointment of a legislative committee to study the possibility of a redistribution of seats in the Legislature.

• Legislation to control "ribbon development" on main highways.

• A supply bill for the remaining six months of the fiscal year ending March 31, 1954. The spring session approved $94,000 of a $175,000 budget.

CCF Woman Championed Equal Pay

The government decision to enforce equal pay for women came as a surprise.

It has been sought for years by various CCF members. At the last session, Mrs. Laura Jamieson, then a CCF MLA for Vancouver Centre, introduced such a bill. But it never got anywhere because of the government's defeat.

The Saskatchewan Equal Pay Act states: "No employer shall discriminate between his male and female employees by paying a female at a rate of pay less than the rate paid to a male employee for work of comparable character done in the same establishment." Fines are provided for non-compliance.

Lieutenant-Governor Wallace, clad in state dress, arrived at the Legislative Buildings sharp at 3 for the opening. As usual the ceremony attracted a large crowd.

EIGHT MORE DOUK HOMES PUT TO TORCH

Police Term Latest Move To Be Reprisal

GILPIN, B.C. (CP)—

Eight more Doukhobor homes were put to the torch here early today in what police termed a reprisal raid protesting mass arrests of Sons of Freedom last week.

Grand Forks, the fires broke

were levelled.

Forty persons were made homeless, but all escaped from

jury.

Since 148 Sons of Freedom were arrested at Perry Siding

communities, 250 miles east of Vancouver.

Meanwhile, at Krestova, B.C.,

against former members of the radical Sons were made Monday night.

their names declared they had received messages threatening their lives if they did not fall in line with the policy of the sect, of whom 148 were arrested last Wednesday.

Attorney-General Robert

Bonner said in Victoria today

the charge d'affaires in Uruguay has been asked to locate Stefan

Sorokin spiritual leader of the Sons and determine his intentions on returning. He will also

cles to prevent his return.

Mr. Bonner said the Doukho-

gested the approach.

The Freemites want Sorok-

in back.

"Sorokin is the only one in all

question and solve this problem," the Sons said in a recent statement on their current

Wright Leaves City Hall; Awaits Word

By AILEEN CAMPBELL

Percy Wright, Victoria MLA, left City Hall today to attend

as assistant city clerk.

Both Mayor Claude Harrison

and City Manager Cecil Wyatt

tion.

"If he goes that is the end of that so far as I am concerned," said the mayor.

Mr. Wyatt said "the matter is still in Mr. Wright's lap. He said Mr. Wright was advised that he could elect to stay on

quest for 30 days' leave of absence was turned down.

If he walks out, presumably he has made the "election" of choice, Mr. Wyatt contended.

Mr. Wright said he would attend the opening and would not return to City Hall. He said he

city.

"I don't plan to take any action."

ing following refusal of his application for 30 days leave without pay, Mr. Wright said: "I have been summoned to the Legislature."

Big Three Ready for Action

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, and his two chief lieutenants of the Social Credit cabinet, Finance Minister Gunderson, left, and Attorney-General Bonner, faced the new sitting of the Legislature today with confidence. They have an assured majority of supporters by contrast with the minority which met defeat in the spring. Only one dark spot marred the session for them, Mr. Gunderson, like Education Minister Tillie Rolston, cannot sit in an official seat in the House or take part in debates. The two were defeated in the June election and have no status in the Legislature. For the opening, however, when members' seats are jammed together with those of the general public, they could sit alongside other Social Credit members. Wednesday they can only watch proceedings from public seats.

TWO WOMEN BURNED TO DEATH

Firemen, Police Probing 'Suspicious' Vancouver Fire

VANCOUVER (CP)—Investigators from the provincial fire marshal's office and city detectives today launched a probe into a west end apartment house fire Monday night that took the lives of two women.

Chief fire warden Norman

Aikin termed the blaze "very suspicious" and said he has called in special investigators

case.

It was the second fire in less than six weeks in the three-

floor.

Victims of Monday's fire were

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Small, 59, and Mrs. Stefany Marsden, 35.

They were asphyxiated as they attempted to escape through a

floor.

Their deaths bring to six the number of fire victims in the lower mainland during the last three days.

The two were pronounced dead on arrival at St. Paul's

halator treatment on the scene.

Three others were injured and about 30 reached safety unhurt.

Most of those trapped made attempt to reach the stairs and were forced back. They returned to their rooms and waited by their windows for firemen to raise ladders.

Police Suspect Patient Fled in Stolen Boat

James Carrol Hall, 30, fugitive from the Wilkinson Road mental hospital for convicted criminals, probably is armed with a high-powered rifle, police said today.

He has become a dangerous man, police reported, hunted both by Canadian and American police.

He is believed to have escaped in a stolen powerboat and to have headed for the United States coast.

Police and civilian aircraft are searching today.

American police, alerted, are operating independently.

Hall is believed to have made good his boast of last May, when he was recaptured after a brief three days of freedom.

He would escape again and get to the United States.

These facts convince police Hall has attempted to reach the Washington coast.

During the week-end a "chief broke into the seashore pit of Producers Sand and Gravel Company, Albert Head, stole a .300 Savage rifle and half a box of ammunition to go with it, a .22 calibre rifle and $20 in cash.

"It smacks of Hall's work, all right," RCMP officers commented today.

Hall followed this pattern of escape last May. The convicted burglar, sentenced to 14 years for 14 burglaries, stole a power boat from Brentwood Bay on that occasion. He broke into a company store at Bamerton and stole $150 in cash, as well as food and clothing.

An RCMP officer captured him near Salt Spring Island in the stolen boat three days after he had won to brief freedom.

Police found the .22 abandoned by a log on the beach a short distance away. Although the cabin had been ransacked, a supply of coffee and canned milk was not touched.

About a mile from the looted cabin, George Duddy, of Duke Road, reported his 15½-foot cabin cruiser, missing.

The craft is powered with a four-cylinder Austin engine and is capable of 10 knots. It was moored close off the beach and its dinghy had been cut adrift.

Although an RCMP aircraft searched the coastal area carefully, covered the Straits of Juan de Fuca soon after the reported break-in and boat theft, there was no sign of the cruiser.

A private pilot, Frank Copley, took Saanich police on the search. His plane had no better luck.

The air search continues today.

Her hull, and cabin work are white and her deck green. She carries a short mast and navigation lights.

Last Friday night Hall picked a lock on a dormitory door, forced a heavy wire mesh barrier enough to allow passage of his slim body . . . and vanished.

In subsequent search, RCMP tracking dog twice picked up a scent. But the trail ended abruptly on the highway on each occasion. It is presumed the fugitive got lost.

Bennett Plans Equal Pay For Women

Throne Speech Indicates Act To Boost Pay for Thousands

Legislation requiring British Columbia employers to provide equal pay for men and women doing equal work will be introduced at the current session of the Legislature.

This was indicated this afternoon in the Speech from the Throne read by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace as he opened the first session of the 24th Legislature.

"It is proposed to introduce certain measures to ensure fair remuneration to female employees," he told the House.

The government, it is expected, will introduce a bill setting out an "Equal Pay Act" which will ensure that women get the same pay as men for comparable jobs.

Lieutenant-Governor Wallace, clad in state dress, arrived at the Legislative Buildings sharp at 3 for the opening. As usual the ceremony attracted a large crowd.

The Lieutenant-Governor was met by Premier Bennett at the top of the steps of the Buildings. They proceeded to the executive chamber, and Premier Bennett went into the House.

The Lieutenant-Governor came in shortly after, and in the traditional manner the provincial secretary, Wesley Black, rose and noted the need for election of a Speaker of the House.

The Lieutenant-Governor departed, and Thomas Irwin, Delta, was chosen. CCF Leader Arnold Webster seconded the appointment.

Lieutenant-Governor Wallace then returned and read the Throne Speech.

Firemen, Police Probing 'Suspicious' Vancouver Fire

VANCOUVER (CP)—Investigators from the provincial fire marshal's office and city detectives today launched a probe into a west end apartment house fire Monday night that took the lives of two women.

The men said they filled out wires to their families as soon as they landed in Vancouver from Japan, and gave them to an officer of the Strathcona Regiment who met them. He was to send them on.

RED RE-TREADS WELCOMED BACK BY NORTH KOREANS

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—Nine North Korean war prisoners who once rejected Communism and then changed their minds were returned to the Reds today amid Communist fanfare.

"You have come from hell to sunlight," one Communist officer shouted to the nine returnees. Some 30 Red observers applauded vigorously during the transfer.

The North Koreans were engulfed by the crowd of Red newsmen and observers, assembled by the Communists to capitalize on the exchange for propaganda purposes. The Allies had 10 observers.

This afternoon's meeting was scheduled to be devoted to the election of an assembly president, seven vice-presidents and seven committee chairmen, who will constitute the powerful steering committee.

DOCTOR CLAIMS HUMANS ABSORB POISONOUS DDT

NEW YORK (UP)—A New York physician subjected samples of fatty tissue taken from 25 New Yorkers who had never handled DDT, except perhaps momentarily, to chemical analysis and found DDT in 23.

This caused the physician, Dr. W. Coda Martin, to ask fellow practitioners Monday night: "What will happen to the entire population in 10 to 15 years from now?"

Addressing the New York chapter of the American Academy of Nutrition, Martin said his patients had accumulated DDT in their bodies from DDT insecticides which was on or in the food they ate.

DDT is poisonous to man as well as to insects, he said, adding that the use of DDT and its chemical relatives in agriculture now totals well over 250,000,000 pounds a year and is increasing.

LONDON (Reuters)—An armada of 252 British, Canadian and American jet warplanes flashed across mist-shrouded London today in thunderous salute to the handful of fighter pilots who whipped Hitler's Luftwaffe 13 years ago.

Police Fear Mental Home Man Headed for U.S. in Stolen Boat

James Carroll Hall, 30, fugitive from the Wilkinson Road mental hospital for convicted criminals, probably is armed with a high-powered rifle, police said today.

He has become a dangerous man, police reported, hunted both by Canadian and American police.

He is believed to have escaped in a stolen powerboat and to have headed for the United States coast.

Police and civilian aircraft are searching today.

American police, alerted, are operating independently.

Hall is believed to have made good his boast of last May, when he was recaptured after a brief three days of freedom, that he would escape again and get to the United States.

These facts convince police Hall has attempted to reach the Washington coast.

During the week-end a 'chief broke into the seashore pit of Producers Sand and Gravel Company, Albert Head, stole a 300 Savage rifle and half a box of ammunition to go with it, a 22 calibre rifle and $20 in cash.

"It smacks of Hall's work, all right," RCMP officers commented today.

Hall followed this pattern of escape last May. The convicted burglar, sentenced to 14 years for 14 burglaries, stole a power boat from Brentwood Bay on that occasion. He broke into a company store at Bamberton and stole $150 in cash, as well as food and clothing.

An RCMP officer captured him near Salt Spring Island in the stolen boat three days after he had won to brief freedom.

22 Found Abandoned on Beach

Police found the 22 abandoned by a log on the beach a short distance away. Although the cabin had been ransacked, a supply of coffee and canned milk was not touched.

About a mile from the looted cabin, George Duddy, of Duke Road, reported his 15½-foot cabin cruiser missing. The craft is powered with a four-cylinder Austin engine and is capable of 10 knots. It was moored close off the beach and its dinghy had been cut adrift.

Sufficient Fuel for 4-Hour Run

The stolen Duddy boat had sufficient fuel on board for a four-hour run, its owner told police.

Hall has had ample time to make the American coast, they pointed out, and this, they believe, was his intention.

The gravel pit cabin was robbed some time before 8 a.m. Monday, probably Sunday night. Bert Parker, gravel pit superintendent, discovered the break-in and reported it immediately.

The air search continues today.

The stolen boat's name is "Margaret Jean," painted on both bows and across the stern.

Her hull and cabin work are white and her deck green. She carries a short mast and navigation lights.

Last Friday night Hall picked a lock on a dormitory door, forced a heavy wire mesh barrier enough to allow passage of his slim body . . . and vanished.

In subsequent search, RCMP tracking dog twice picked up a scent. But the trail ended abruptly on the highway on each occasion. It is presumed the fugitive got lost.

Vancouver Police Seize Heroin Worth $6,000

VANCOUVER (BUP)—City detectives and RCMP officers said today they had made the largest drug seizure of the year here.

One ounce of heroin, valued at approximately $6,000 on the underworld drug market, was seized by city detectives in a raid on a hotel room. Eight capsules were taken in the raid and a quantity of the powder wrapped in paper. Three women and a sailor were taken into custody pending investigation.

Meanwhile, the RCMP boarded the freighter China Mail in the harbor and seized five rubber containers from the crewmen's quarters which allegedly contained narcotics.

MacNamara Named To Mediate SIU Steamship Strike

OTTAWA (BUP)—Labor Minister Milton F. Gregg today named former deputy labor minister Arthur MacNamara as special commissioner and mediator to try to bring shipping companies and their strike-threatening employees together for fresh labor negotiations.

Gregg said he had hoped that direct negotiations between the SIU and the companies would bring about a settlement, but the SIU had notified Colonial Steamships that 500 men will strike on the company's ships at noon Monday.

Five Children Die in N.S. House Blaze

SIDNEY MINES, N.S. (CP)—Five children of a miner and his wife died early today when fire swept their home at Alder Point, six miles northwest of here.

The dead, children of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Reshore, are: Mary, 13; Georgette, 6; Alden, 5; Frederick, 2, and Linda, 6 months.

The mother and 12-year-old twins, Cameron and Carlotta, escaped. Mr. Reshore was at work.

Other occupants of the two-story duplex house were Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Deveau and their children, Francis, 10, and Glen, 7, and an infant. They, too, reached safety. The house burned to the ground.

TOO MANY 'ROCKS IN CREASE?

Pete's Coach Seeks Rule Clarification

By BILL WALKER
Times Sports Editor

Bobby Thorpe, coach of the Peterborough Trailermen, said today that he will ask for Canadian Lacrosse Association officials for rule clarifications before Wednesday's second game of the Mann Cup finals.

Following the Pete's 13-12 victory over the Victoria Shamrocks in the first game, here Monday night Thorpe contended that referees had ignored infractions of the crease rule.

He pointed out that in eastern Canada the officials call more crease violations than in the west and that failure to call Shamrock infractions caught the Pete's by surprise.

Thorpe implied that the Irish were granted too much liberty in invading the crease away from the play. Rules call for the ball to be given the defending team for an infraction of this nature.

Thorpe does not plan to ask for a change in referees. Outside of the aforementioned points he was generally satisfied with the officiating of Bill Dickinson and Bill Wilkes of Vancouver.

Meanwhile, coach Red McMillan plans only one change in the Shamrock line-up, Jack Byford of Vancouver Pilseners will replace Bob Anderson who has been transferred from the city to a position in Prince George.

In regard to the first-period collapse of the Irish McMillan said:

"The lapses were by the team as a whole and not by individuals." That's why I'm sticking with virtually the same unit.

No injuries were reported by either club as they await Wednesday's second game.
